THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Throughout history, the power of compulsion and the power of persuasion have been at any one time simultaneously present in a culture with one or the other in the ascendant. They are not irrevocably opposed to each other, but they work in different ways. The power of compulsion fastens upon "means" to secure "ends" that are taken for granted. The end, in its simplest and crudest form, is to create more of what we already have — to improve our standard of living, increase our national output, extend and consolidate our interests throughout the world. The power of persuasion, on the other hand, is concerned about ends. It asks the simple, devastating questions. What are the real satisfactions of man? What is the goal to which we are so feverishly moving, or is there indeed a goal at all? The power of compulsion lives in an atmosphere of conflict, and knows no happiness save in victory. But to the power of persuasion, competition is irrelevant. We are in a world where beauty and truth manifest themselves in many forms, each commanding a unique perfection. De Quincey speaks of the great works of literature — works that illustrate what he calls the literature of power — as being "not militant but triumphant forever. . . . They never can transmigrate into new incarnations. . . . They differ not as better and worse, or simply by more and less; they differ by undecipherable and incommunicable differences that cannot be caught by mimicries, that cannot be reflected in the mirrors of copies, that cannot become ponderable in the scales of vulgar comparisons." Finally, the power of compulsion can brook no arresting questions, can countenance no doubts; it is at home only in the gymnasium where it can flex its muscles and release its animal energies. But the power of persuasion lives on questions and grows lean and supple on doubts.

The great problem confronting the West is to know when to use the power of compulsion and when to use the power of persuasion, and, given the character of each, to place restraints on the former and give wings to the latter. We must remember that the power of compulsion cannot overcome the most potent adversary: the fears and suspicions in the minds of men. Last spring I had the chance to visit mainland China. What I found most terrifying was not the starvation, of which I saw few signs, not the poverty, which is widespread but bearable, not the feeling of living under the unblinking eye of regimentation, for the Chinese wear their Marxism with a Confucian inscrutability — not any of these things, but rather the deep, intense, and unswerving distrust of the West, particularly of the United States.

You will recall the story of King Lear, of how the aged King, in a moment of quixotic generosity, divided up his kingdom, only to be treated with black ingratitude by his children. But stripped of his pomp, homeless and driven half-mad, he discovered the power of human sympathy, and he came to know the peace and wisdom that come from experiencing the grief and suffering of others. Our problem is how to find Lear's wisdom without embracing his folly. We must not divest ourselves of our kingdom only to be consumed by the Gonerils and Regans and left wandering on a desolate plain. If we learn the lesson that Lear had to be so brutally taught:

Take physic, pomp;
Expose thyself to feel what wretches feel;
That thou mayst shape the superflux to them,
And shew the heavens more just
Then we need never utter his stricken cry:
O, I have ta'en
Too little care of this!

Most of you who graduate will make your contributions, small or large, to the power of compulsion. I wish you well. But for those of you who elect to serve the power of persuasion, I pray that your strength may be as the strength of ten.

THE COUNCIL PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

"Nothing is more difficult to take in hand, more perilous to conduct, or more uncertain in its success, than to take the lead in the introduction of a new order of things."

Exactly one year ago tonight, I outlined the principles upon which I hoped to guide this council as its President. I urged that we dare greatly, and dream greatly, and let our works catch up with our dreams; that we meet the challenge of expansion, change and decision with the imagination of the creative mind and the courage of the committed heart; that we enunciate a system of priorities, an appreciation that some of our plans would be important, but others imperative.

And the result I am convinced has been the creation by this Council of "a new order of things".

We have seen it all year long — from the first meeting in which we set up the pilot project for Canadian universities dealing with discrimination in housing — a plan which has been carried by our National Federation and by government officials themselves, to campuses across this country.

We had the first investigatory commission of a purely social and political nature held by a student government on this campus — and sparked interest and debate within the university community on a problem which later became the central issue in Canadian politics today.

Not only in that way did we meet our intellectual obligation to the student body. The SAC hosted the most successful Inter-Varsity Drama Festival yet held in Canada, so much so that we were asked to assume this function again next year. Torontonensis was freed to become the most original yearbook in Canada. NFCUS held its first of an annual series of educational seminars, and we set up the first drama committee of the SAC to handle drama of a university-wide nature, presenting the challenge to creative dramatic talent on campus for exciting and imaginative planning. Systematic recommendations were made to the administration on student examination problems, on the concept of a university-wide study week, on the inequities of the original parking regulations. New principles were also established for the distribution of student money in honoraria and salaries. Thousands of dollars will be saved next year and in every year to come.

And the outgrowth of this creation of a new order of things has been seen particularly in two areas.

First of all, this Council has set in motion the actual machinery which will provide us with decent office and meeting facilities of our own, and which will provide the homeless, wandering clubs of the university with meeting space, office space, filing space. President Bissell himself termed the Students' Administrative Centre as the first "rational proposal" the student body has yet submitted with regard to student facilities. Next year our successors will deal with the problems of architects, contractors, and interior decorators — but this Council has laid the foundation, has met the challenge and done the work which will only be seen in mortar and concrete four years hence. That alone would be a creditable accomplishment.

But still, most significant of all, this Council has given a new direction to student government at the University of Toronto, made the most significant changes in the SAC in the last thirty years. Student responsibility on this campus is now a meaningful concept, both in fact and in law. We have delineated and redefined the position which the Council staff bear both to the students and the administration. Policy is now the sole responsibility of the student; but with it now attends the greater challenge: to ensure that our policy must be manageable to those who must administer it, acceptable to those who must support it, tolerable to those who must put up with it. Leadership must now mean dialogue between the Council and the student body. The students of the University must now be the well-spring upon which its leadership will draw for direction and dedication.

By freeing our finances from covert controls, by actually establishing de jure what President Bissell has termed "the non-regulatory interests" of the Board of Governors, this Council has left its successors free to move with scope and respect through a budget, now at a quarter of a million dollars a year, soon to be well over half a million. No matter what reputation student councillors get with the student press, no matter how unaware and uninterested the student body becomes, that huge amount of money must be disposed of wisely and well. Because of this Council, our successors will find this task easier, more in keeping with the responsibility which student representation demands.

Adlai Stevenson once said that democracy is like a pump, and what it pumps is just what we are, a fair sample of the intellect, the ethics, the morals of a people, no better no worse. If this Council is a fair sampling of student democracy, the University of Toronto can only benefit. I am reminded of the well-known words of Robert Frost, words which have served to halt me whenever the crossroads of decision were reached this year:

"Two roads diverged in a wood, and I —
I took the one less travelled by,
And that has made all the difference."

This Council in truly creating a new order of things has taken the road less travelled by — and that has, indeed, made all the difference. The leadership of the Students' Administrative Council of 1962-63 will be followed for years to come.

I urged us one year ago tonight not to blend our vision, nor shackle our imagination, nor silence a new argument, nor crush a new idea, nor slumber in the belief that all is done, all is well.

Much was done; much remains; but our accomplishment will be our legacy.

The Executive Commission of the Students' Administrative Council was in effect the steering committee for the Council this year. Definite decisions were made early in the summer to free the Executive of business and administrative detail which formerly had been relegated to it. Therefore, after consideration once by the Executive and introduction to Council, any new proposal was immediately passed on to the appropriate Committee or Commission.

This freed the Executive to consider broad policy questions, recognizing that, under S.A.C. structure, the Council is the S.A.C. on a bi-monthly basis, the Executive is the Council on a weekly basis, and the President is the Council on a day-to-day basis. The new procedure allowed for an effectual decision-making process, provided for broad policy consideration and relegated detailed administration to the appropriate body of students or staff connected with S.A.C.

The Executive Commission is composed of:

The President, the Vice-President, the Finance Commissioner, the Publications Commissioner, and the National Affairs Commissioner. Although its meetings are normally presided over by the Council's Speaker, the President this year retained the chair. The Executive met weekly before Council meetings, and upon occasion held extraordinary meetings when urgency demanded it. It spoke on behalf of the Council to the press or public when necessary, and decided policy questions in the name of the student body when Council was unable to meet.

In 1937, the students' Administrative Council had an income from student fees of $15,000, and a total financial responsibility of $52,000. By 1957 the income from fees had risen to $47,000 and a total financial responsibility of $243,000. In the six years from 1957 to 1963, the income from fees has increased by over 110 % to $105,000, and the overall cash responsibility by the same percentage to $546,000. In the light of projected enrollment we feel that a conservative estimate for 1967 would be three-quarters of a million dollars total operation, and by 1970, somewhere in the region of $1,000,000 annually. Six members of the Council act on the Finance Commission under the chairmanship of the Finance Commissioner. This year John Hayes was Chairman of the Commission. As can be seen from the figures above, the commission members are controlling the finances of a rather complex organization. Student politics is growing up. Next year the job of Finance Commissioner will probably be officially made a year round job necessitating him to spend the summer on campus in order to be prepared to meet the heavy responsibility that faces him when Council resumes in the fall.

Under the authority of the Publications Commission, The Varsity, Torontonensis, and The Jargon are edited and distributed to the students. By nature of its heavy financial commitments and influence on public opinion, this commission tends to be one of the most responsible and conservative institutions on campus. Rarely does this commission allow itself to be dragged into controversy. Some of the rare occasions this year were: a strike by the staff of The Varsity, empire building on the part of the 'nensis Editor, and a charge of publishing pornography. This year the Publications Commission saw that The Varsity continued publishing as the oldest student newspaper in the Commonwealth, allowed the Torontonensis to assume the format of a magazine next year after appearing sixty-five years as a yearbook, and legislated The Jargon out of existence.

The Varsity, its editors are fond to tell with an act of faith of catholic sweep, is a tri-weekly newspaper more or less designed to inform, instruct, fulfil, redeem, declare, restore, impel, provide, assure, prove, repudiate, console, demonstrate and establish. Occasionally it is a paper realistic enough to know the limitations of student journalism, but most of the time it is just naive enough to get excited about what it's doing. It has a sullen disposition, a changeable personality and a calculating mind. The sour truth is that sometimes it thinks it has a mandate to flood the campus with its own minority views and considers it its duty to stick pins in the wax model of authority. It is also the sour truth that in doing so, it becomes the fool who will pay the bill. But it is equally true that The Varsity is an act of love — this newspaper is concubine and lover, therapy and comfort, violent boss, violent passion. Its meaning is not derived from pages printed, pictures snapped, stories written but from internal anguish, external camaraderie, unbalanced dedication. This attitude bears the seeds of great danger. The love to master the involved mechanics of professional excellence sometimes permit them to master us. The answers are elusive and the Varsity has made several mistakes, as we expected it might. But in the past, men and journalists have profited from their mistakes, as we expect we might. Norman Mailer has written the epitaph for volume 83 of The Varsity:
“... every last one of us could have done more, a creation or two more than we have done, and while it is our own fault, it is not all our own fault, and so I still feel the rage at the cowardice of our time which has ground down all of us into the mediocre compromises of what had been once our light-filled passion to stand erect and be original.”
This then has been our act of love. We wish luck to the next lover.

The nude on the dust jacket is indicative of the attitude of the staff of this year's Torontonensis. We would like to test the bounds of convention, look at long accepted rules to see if they are still valid. We shall be called irresponsible and irreverent, although we are trying to be the opposite. We are reverent in that we hold the students and the institutions that are this University in high regard. We are responsible in that we have fought to rid the campus of a yearbook and are planning to edit, next year, instead, a publication that we hope will compliment the taste and intelligence of this university community. The students that have been our classmates these past few years, have been too anxious to play the part of a sponge, soaking up quantities of facts now to be returned later to society at so much per hour. If in this institution that allows us a great deal of freedom we are afraid to be daring, to be imaginative, to test our judgment, then we shall always be afraid. 31

The National Affairs Commission is responsible to maintain and promote relations between students of this university and students of other universities and colleges in Canada and throughout the world. Through three sub-committees this commission arranges exchanges with other universities, assists foreign students on campus, sponsors seminars, sends delegates to seminars, in general allows the students of the University of Toronto to participate in the World University Service and the National Federation of Canadian University Students. The N.F.C.U.S. Committee under the Chairmanship of Jack Tuttlebee this year hosted a seminar, the theme "Freedom and the University". Other N.F.C.U.S. accomplishments this year were the publication of a national student magazine and the creation of a students "Bill of Rights". Two successes W.U.S. Committee achieved this year with Diane Bushell as Chairman were, the establishment of a Bursary for overseas students studying here, and raising enough funds to send four delegates to the W.U.S. Seminar in Pakistan.

The University of Toronto Debating Union is responsible for interfaculty debating, the elections and sessions of Model Parliament, and the activities of the debating team. As in previous years the interest in and quality of debating has varied from faculty to faculty. Representatives from each college and faculty met at intervals. However, due to varying timetables the faculties and colleges were left free to arrange their own matches. Owing to the organizational problems the Debating Union made no attempt to arrange a cross-campus tournament. The principle function of the Union was to serve as a liason between the various member clubs as both a point of contact and a source of guidance and information.

The advent of the Social Credit party created a new interest in campus politics. New agreements were arrived at in the Model Parliament Committee under the chairmanship of Grant MacDonald. It was unanimously agreed to limit election campaign spending to one hundred dollars per party. This year the Liberal club again formed the government. The Debating Team was selected at trials open to all students of the University. Ten members, six experienced and four novices, participated in eight Inter-University Debating League debates as well as tournaments at Harvard, Rochester, Pittsburg, Western, and McGill.

The Blue and White Society enjoyed another successful year in planning and executing activities with the purpose of drawing the scattered parts of the University together and promoting a University-wide spirit. The fall term started off with the Freshman Welcome in Varsity Arena, which about 1,500 freshmen and other interested students attended. The Tea Dances in Varsity Arena and the traditional Blue and White Dances in Hart House continued to be popular and fill the buildings close to capacity.

Homecoming Weekend was a major area of Blue and White responsibility with the Friday evening Show and the Saturday morning Float Parade. The Homecoming Show, featuring the Travellers, was an entertainment and a financial success, attracting over 4,000 people to Varsity Arena. The Faculty of Law continued its dominance in the Float Parade, once again walking off with the top prize.

Half-time crowd supervision and entertainment at home football games were again under Blue and White supervision.

The Christmas Tree on December 13th, as always, packed the Great Hall, and provided a varied evening of Christmas music as well as the traditional messages by Dr. Bissell and Warden McCulley.

The Winter Carnival, held on February 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, proved to be as popular as last year's, and despite inclement weather, drew more spectators and participants than the 1962 Carnival.

The Blue and White Society performed other less publicized services for the student body. Skating parties were operated and subsidized by the Society following six Varsity home hockey games. Dances following Athletic Nights in Hart House were reinstituted after several years' absence, and greatly improved the attendance at Athletic Nights. Three such dances were organized by the Blue and White, with all profits going to the Athletic Association.

The Blue and White's budget continued to grow, and involved a cash flow of just under $40,000. Profits for the year should be around $1,800.00 as compared to an original budgeted loss of $102.00. However, the success of the Society's operations should not be measured in terms of dollars, but in the number of students who attended and participated in Blue and White activities. A conservative estimate would place the number of students at our activities at 25,000, and this figure excludes events connected directly with football, hockey or basketball games.

The University Settlement is a social agency in the downtown Toronto area which it has served since it was founded in 1910 by Sir Robert Falconer and faculty members of the University of Toronto.

To the University Settlement come people of different racial and ethnic origin, of different religious and political creeds, people with varied interests and economic background who intermingle in various social activities, each in his own way pursuing his or her own goals while at the same time helping to satisfy the interests and need of others.

The activities of the University Settlement are co-ordinated by a Board of Directors and are implemented by professional staff and volunteers. Through "team work" they complement each other and in the words of the President of the Board, are privileged "to make their time here useful and significant." Through a variety of programmes, the University Settlement serves the pre-schooler, the school child, the adolescent and the adults. Its services are supported by the United Community Fund, the City of Toronto, University groups, as well as other groups and individuals.

The programmes of the Clubs and Art Department, of the Physical Education Department, of the Nursery and Music School are based on the needs and interests of the participants. These programmes are carried out amidst a beneficial self-created competitive atmosphere, encouraging creativeness through self-expression. They are designed to stimulate interest and imagination in children and adults; to develop talents, a sense of responsibility according to one's ability; leadership as well as discipline.

Summer camping at Camp Boulderwood on Gull Lake near Gravenhurst is an out of town operation, but is an integral part of the University Settlement programme. Here boys and girls, 8 to 16, engage in healthy outdoor activities under the direct supervision of qualified staff and volunteers.

Another important service is carried out through English classes for immigrants. In these classes immigrants learn English but they are also helped to blend, as harmoniously as possible, their own customs and mores with the Canadian way of life.

The leadership in carrying out programmes is largely provided by professional social workers, nursery, art, music, language teachers, and fully qualified physical education instructors. Their work is complemented by that of the volunteers, who help in a variety of ways. They may help children in developing new skills in the lively arts, music, ballet, in cooking, knitting, etc. The University Settlement is also a teaching centre. Here several students from the School of Social Work, under the expert guidance of the professional staff, have an opportunity to relate the classroom theories to practice. Students from the Department of Psychology also make use of the facilities offered by the University Settlement to further their knowledge. These students and other volunteers help the University Settlement to move forward in the fulfilment of its aim "to provide a friendly place for neighbours to meet, for people of many backgrounds to get to know and understand one another, for children and adults to learn new skills . . . develop talent and together, develop community life". It is in order to carry on this commitment that each year the University Settlement looks to the campus as the best source for volunteer helpers.

Under the leadership of David Bryce, president, the United Nations Club forged ever onward in its fifth year.

The outstanding success of the year was the annual New York trip, this year a financial as well as artistic success. Two busloads of U. of T. students visited the United Nations, had briefing sessions with U.N. delegates, and enjoyed the sights of New York. Prominent among the sights were the sleeping profile of the president, recovering from a grueling two weeks spent recruiting students for the trip.

The annual Caledon weekend was a partial success. Over ten hours were spent in discussion groups on the topic, "Co-existence or No Existence", with N.D.P. candidate Val Scott, a prominent World Federalist, leading the discussion. However the attendance was not satisfactory and a financial loss was suffered. The club sent two delegations to the University of Montreal Model Assembly, representing the Netherlands and Nigeria. The Netherlands delegation won second prize as the second-best group at the assembly.

Fewer meetings were held this year, but they made up in quality what they lacked in attendance. The Friday discussion meetings were shifted to Wednesday and held less often.

Prominent among Wednesday speakers were Dr. Skilling of the Geography Department and Professor MacWhinney of the Faculty of Law. A debate on Kashmir between an Indian and a Pakistani student was also held.

The opening dinner was a huge success. Mark Gayne, of the Toronto Daily Star, spoke on "New Development in Russia and China".

The U.N. Club was instrumental in launching a project campaign which raised $4,000 for the Central Institute of Technology in Mysore, India. Past President Malcolm Martini initiated the drive.

The University of Toronto Flying Club is an association of students with a common interest in aviation. In co-operation with Central Airways based at Toronto Island Airport, members of the club are entitled to reduced rates while undergoing pilot training and when renting company aircraft. Club activities this year were centered on regular weekly meetings. Speakers gave talks on subjects such as skydiving, search and rescue, commercial flying, and gliding. The final meeting of the year featured Mr. Charlie Yeates who was the most successful member of the Canadian team in the World Gliding Championships held in Argentina. Club meetings were also supplemented by films and slides throughout the year. The club had a tour of the De Havilland Aircraft plant at Downsview. Breakfast flights were arranged in the fall and winter seasons. The most successful of these was a flight to Muskoka to see the northern autumn colours.

Devonshire House remains the active and spirited College residence that it has been in past years. The Residence Council, meeting monthly with Dean Symons, has maintained, through its committees, an ambitious and enjoyable programme for the members. The Council includes the three House Presidents and two other elected members from each house. This year's President, Ernest Lapchinski, was assisted by Peter McCulloch as Secretary-Treasurer.

The Devonshire Society, chaired by Grant Fergusson Stewart, invited several distinguished speakers to its buffet dinner and discussion evenings as guests of the Dean and Resident Council. The guests included: Dr. Norman Alcock, of the Peace Research Institute, who spoke on problems of researching for international peace; the Honourable John Wintermeyer, Leader of the Liberal Party in Ontario, who discussed provincial politics; Mr. William J. Sutherland, General Secretary of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship of Canada, speaking on the subject of "Christianity and its Success or Failure"; Senator M. Wallace McCutcheon, Minister Without Portfolio, who clearly outlined the economics and finances of Canada in 1962-63, as well as presenting future problems in economics; Dr. G. H. W. Lucas, University Pharmacology Professor and consultant in toxicology, giving practical points in the role of an expert witness.

The Devonshire Society debate this year was on the subject: "The University of Toronto does not face its educational problems adequately". What had been planned as a two-sided debate became a heated general discussion of the university educational problems with arts and science at loggerheads.

For the first time, an International Night was sponsored by the Devonshire Society and ably organized by Frans Koch. The evening included movies, slides, short talks, and music from the varied cultures and lands represented amongst the members of Devonshire. This fine programme will certainly be repeated in future years.

The members of the Devonshire Committee, faculty advisers of the residence, were invited to the "dinner and discussion" evenings.

The Art Committee, chaired by Mr. Dave Richardson, has continued its programme of art exhibits and featured modern Canadian painters this year. Mr. Oscar Schlienger, an Ontario artist, was the committee's guest, and he presented a display and discussion on his works. Again, the Devonshire Art Contest provoked wide opinions on various amateur masterpieces. Trophies were presented to the most promising artists of Devonshire by Mr. William Withrow, Director of The Art Gallery of Toronto, who judged the contest. The Library Committee, under the chairmanship of Jon Levine, continues its tireless task of choosing volumes of reading for the Library shelves. Volunteer librarians maintain the wide circulation of the books. This year, the committee has also added a fine chess set to the Library.

The Music Committee, chaired by Peter Bradley, continues to select records for its collection of classical, jazz and contemporary music. Plans are underway to establish a music practice room in one of the houses.

The House Committee continues to deal with suggestions for the renovation and improvement of the Residence.

The athletic programme, organized by the three athletic representatives, maintains its brisk informal spirit. Interhouse hockey, football, basketball, and table tennis remain the sports of house rivalry. The famous Devonshire "Grey Cup" was won by South House this year.

Each House held their number of parties and stags. To begin the year, the freshmen parties were preceded by the building of recreation-stag rooms in each house basement. The most memorable parties were North House's "Beethoven's Birthday Party", East House's "Wild West" and "Wild Twist" parties, and South House's Annual Chicken Party and the "Farouk's Frenzy" party.

Again, the outstanding social success of the year was the Devonshire Christmas Party. Guests, alumni and former Dons joined the present house members in dancing and caroling. The highlight of the party was the Grand March led by Dean Symons and followed by Dons, Residence Council, and anyone else who wished to march. Bagpipes, horns, and drums added to the "spectacle". Mr. Mel Petersiel, President of North House, arranged the successful party.

This year, an exchange of visits took place with the Warden of Residence and the residence executive of McMaster University, Hamilton, visiting Devonshire House in the fall term, and Dean, Dons, and Residence Council returning the visit in February to compare notes on the respective residential colleges of the two universities. An exchange of visits like this with another college or university has now become an annual practice in Devonshire in order to freshen our own views of residence life and share our ideas with others.

The residents, as always, included graduate and undergraduate students in all faculties from all provinces, and from many countries around the world. The mixture of backgrounds and academic interest within one residence college is itself a valuable educational experience.

In summary, Devonshire House has had another spirited and enthusiastic year. It has, however, been clouded slightly by the news that Dean Symons will be leaving us to become the President of Peterborough's new Trent University. The members, grateful for his contributions to residence life, wish the Dean well in his new position knowing that he will always maintain an interest in Devonshire House.

This academic year has been an especially busy one for Toronto's Progressive Conservative Club. Led by President Brian Tennyson, the club members participated in a wide range of political activities. On the practical side of politics, the club served in the June election campaign by helping to canvass the voters of six different constituencies. The many members who took part felt they had gained a wealth of practical political experience.

Back to university again, the club got off to a flying start when former P.C.S.F. President Bob Amaron spoke to the members on the student's role in politics today. Other speakers through the year included some of the senior men in our government. The history and significance of conservatism as a political force in Canada was discussed by former Justice Minister Davie Fulton. Canada's role in the modern world was the subject of an informative talk by the Honourable Howard Green, Secretary of State for External Affairs. A man very much in the news these days, Trade and Commerce Minister George Hees, told of the measures which his department is taking to improve Canada's world trade position. The club members had a chance to question all of these speakers, and chat personally with them.

One of the highlights for the club this year was the Annual Caledon Conference, featuring Veteran Affairs Minister Gordon Churchill; Honourable Roland Michener, Former Speaker of the House of Commons; Heath Macquarrie, Parliamentary Secretary to the Secretary of State for External Affairs; and two Ontario M.P.P.'s, Jack Harris and Leonard Reilly. The intimate atmosphere of the farm was conducive to some frank political discussions, as well as to some less serious activities. Another weekend of note was that spent in Ottawa for the Progressive Conservative Student Federation's annual conference. This year was especially rewarding as Toronto saw its own Jeff Lyons elected to the executive of the national organization. At the same time a resolution was passed supporting the Sidney Smith Memorial Fund. This fund was created by members of our campus club in honour of this university's past president, the late Sidney Earle Smith who resigned his post to serve his country as Secretary of State for External Affairs until his untimely death.

The most significant event for all the political clubs on campus, of course, was the Model Parliament. Under able leader Jeff Lyons, the club placed a close second in the elections and formed the Official Opposition in the student parliament. Both to new members and to old pros it was exciting and challenging. Soon after parliament was over, elections were held to provide a new executive for the coming year. David Woodward became the club's new president, and plans to lead it in another eventful and successful year.

The Association of Mennonite University Students, which recently received recognition as a university club, is organized to stimulate spiritual, intellectual, and social development among its members. A brief explanation of who the Mennonites are will be in order. This Christian denomination emerged from the Anabaptist movement of the sixteenth century Reformation. Basically the Mennonites believe in adult baptism and a Church of dedicated believers. Christ's teaching of charity and service to others prevents a Christian from harming his fellow man in any way, especially by war. Thus the Mennonites maintain a peace position. At its monthly meeting A.M.U.S. seeks to promote a better understanding of the Christian faith and the Church's programme by discussions, which this year focus on Anabaptist doctrines. One of the highlights of the club's activities was a weekend spent at the Caledon Hills Farm where outdoor and indoor sports were enjoyed, as well as a serious exchange and evaluation of thoughts and ideas. Another major activity is the sponsoring of a High School Day, in which Mennonite students in grades twelve and thirteen are given a tour of the campus and encouraged to take advantage of the opportunities of higher education. By its activities, the Association of Mennonite University Students endeavours to assist the student as he searches for truth and knowledge during his university years.

Where do all the overseas students spend their spare time? Why, at FROS, of course, along with crowds of Canadian students too. What do they do at FROS? Well, most of the time they sit around enjoying the comforts of home and drinking the best 5c cup of coffee on campus. The common rooms, the ping-pong room, the kitchen and the offices are always busiest during the lunch hour, but the House at 45 Willcocks Street, WA. 3-7698, is open Monday to Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

What about organized activities? The student committee and permanent staff plan weekly noon-hour discussions and Saturday Country Nights, where overseas students introduce Canadians to their culture and their food. Regular weekend visits to Canadian families in neighbouring towns are organized throughout the year.

How do people join? They don't. FROS is not a club but an International Centre. They come along anytime, or to one of the Open Houses held on three evenings per week in September, and every Sunday after then.

University
R.C.A.F.
Squadron

The University of Toronto Squadron is composed of Flight Cadets and Officers in the R.C.A.F. who are furthering their education at the university. While attending school, students, both male and female, hold the rank of Flight Cadet and upon graduation are promoted to Pilot Officer or Flying Officer. The Squadron meets each Thursday evening at the Drill Hall, 119 St. George Street, to hear lectures on Air Force progress, military history, current affairs and to see films supporting these topics.

Each summer, the Cadets are stationed at Air Force bases across Canada and in Europe where they learn an Air Force trade associated with their university course. The first six weeks of their first summer are spent at Reserve Officers' School where the Cadets are oriented to Air Force routine and history. Subject material includes military drill, public speaking, history, nuclear defence, service law and leadership. In the following summers, cadets receive instruction in a particular field of operations such as Telecommunications, Armament, Aeronautical Engineering or Aircrew training.

Perhaps more important than the actual knowledge obtained is the general background the cadets receive in Air Force life and an appreciation of just what a service career entails. Upon graduation they are granted a commission as a Regular or Reserve Officer in the R.C.A.F. Should the cadet wish to re-enter civilian life, he does so richer in character and broader in scope as a result of his Air Force Training in personnel management and leadership.

The Squadron also has an active social calendar to supplement the training programme. There are informal gatherings within the Squadron as well as joint Air Force-Navy-Army parties. Our social year reaches a climax at the annual Tri-Service Military Ball early in February at Hart House. Here, members of the different military units get to know each other better and share in what we believe to be the finest formal dance on campus. The final formal affair, the Mess Dinner, is held at Station Downsview in March to bring the year to a close.

An evening of Italian Popular Music, held in October, started the activities of the U. of T. Italian Club. Slides about Italy shown by Mr. J. Miller and a talk about Italian Universities by Mr. W. Temelini made the November meeting interesting and informative. This was followed by what proved to be the highlight of the year, the production of Luigi Chiarelli's La Maschera e il Volto which was presented by special permission granted by Signora Anna Chiarelli of Rome. The Christmas Party, at which Santa Claus was present, provided an enjoyable evening of entertainment and the showing of Federico Fellini's I Vitelloni in January proved to be another interesting meeting. Dr. Vinci from the Conservatory, with a group of singers, presented many arias from well-known Italian operas at the February meeting; and in March, Miss Cecilia Anderson closed the Club's activities by giving a piano concert.

The University Chemical Club has completed another successful year. Membership increased to 140 and the meetings were well attended.

More than 80 people attended the opening meeting to hear Principal F. E. W. Wetmore's address on "The Scientist in Society". Some of the other outstanding scientists who spoke during the year were Dr. Le Roy, Dr. Wright and Dr. Barradas of the Chemistry Department, Dr. H. B. Marshall, Associate Director of Research, Dominion Tar and Chemical Co., and Dr. G. H. W. Lucas of the Department of Pharmacology, who was the first undergraduate president of the Club in 1919.

As usual, the Graduate-Undergraduate Football Game was won by the undergrads, who thoroughly crushed the older, more experienced (?) grads.

The field trip to Atomic Energy of Canada in Chalk River was most informative and enjoyable. Members were received with generous hospitality and taken on an extensive tour of the reactor and laboratories.

The social highlight of the year was again the Annual Banquet, held in the Sheraton Room of the King Edward Hotel. This evening of food and fellowship was enjoyed by all. As usual the professors provided the main target for satirical skits produced by the various classes.

The year's activities concluded with the elections, followed by a full-length movie. Next year in the new "Lash Miller Chemical Laboratory" the Chemical Club should continue to grow and prosper.

When a student enters Commerce and Finance, he finds himself encircled by an array of economic theories. It is the contention of the Commerce Club Executive that to be successful the student should be more than just an economic textbook. Thus the Commerce Club is designed to provide a valuable link between the students, professors, and the business world, and as well, pull the members closer together with a balance of intellectual, social, and athletic activities. This year's Club has prospered with an increased membership of over 30%, the addition of many new activities, and the formation of an alumni association.

October kept both the executive and members very busy. The Commerce Fall Reception featured four prominent Commerce graduates discussing their occupations and reminiscing about their past Commerce days of "hard" work. The Nurses' Dance presented the golden opportunity for... (need we say more?). The Annual Golf Tournament held under excellent weather conditions (for a duck) at least gave members an excuse for skipping classes, if nothing else. On Homecoming Weekend, a majestic blending of sight and sound in the form of the Commerce Float and the now immortal "Adam's Myth Memorial Band" thrilled the thousands that lined the streets of Toronto.

November will be remembered by the executive as the month that saw the disappearance of one of our vice-presidents. Nevertheless, the executive was able, with the greatly appreciated help of B-A Oil, O'Keefe's, Texaco, and Volkswagen, to entertain 15 graduate students from Ann Arbor, Michigan at the Annual Exchange Weekend with this University. The topic was "The Future of Labour-Management Relations in North America", and the combination of top speakers, spirited discussions, and informal parties made the Weekend highly successful. This hectic month concluded with an interesting tour of a rising young company, American Motors.

December saw the discovery of our lost vice-president; an evening in which we learned how to lose our money in the stock market; and the unforgettable "Brighton Excursion" to Professor Hennessey's farm.

Despite the ever-increasing deluge of tests and essays (something new to Commerce this year), the Club pushed on, presenting two tours to the Toronto Stock Exchange; a dinner with Morgan's to discuss "Retailing"; a panel of accountants which demonstrated to the members that accountants are more than bookkeepers, and a "Caledon Excursion" to broaden our interests.

With exams approaching, the Club wrapped up a successful year with a Squash Tournament; a Hockey Tournament which featured the perennial struggle between the students and the professors; a tour of Massey-Ferguson; and a wind-up stag.

The Student Christian Movement is an open movement consisting of students of diverse beliefs and opinions who are willing to face together the basic questions of faith and morality which confront men. They do so by joining in an extensive programme of study, discussion, seminars, lectures, conferences, camps service, etc. The S.C.M. unit at the University of Toronto is part of the National Student Christian Movement of Canada, which in turn is an affiliated member of the World Student Christian Federation. The Movement is student controlled, and student led. Acting in an advisory capacity at U. of T. are General Secretary the Rev. George I. Hopton and Associate Secretary Jane Blanchard. The Movement is inter-denominational and includes students from all the major denominations as well as agnostics and members of other religions.

Following the usual pattern, this year a varied programme of lectures, discussion groups, seminars and supper meetings was organized. The Fall Lecture Series entitled 'Love in the Western World' dealt with such authors as D. H. Lawrence, Carson McCullers, S. Freud, Erich Fromm, A. Camus and Charles Williams. The Spring Lecture Series, entitled 'Science and the Cosmos', traced the various scientific revolutions as related to various particular scientific disciplines and their influence on the world of thought. Wednesday Supper Meetings, held at Student House, dealt with such varied topics as sexual morality, French Canadian separatism, inner-city problems, Christian drama readings, capital punishment and penal reform. There were also many flourishing lunch-hour discussion groups; for instance one group discussed Christian mysticism, another pacifism, and a group mainly for medical students studied the book 'Morals and Medicine'.

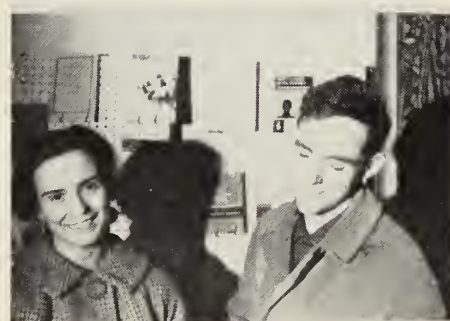

Canterbury Centre organized two excellent series of lunch meetings, the first of which dealt with the influence of political and cultural change on the church, and the second with different charges that are made against Anglicanism. The Victoria S.C.M. ran its own program of noon-hour discussion groups and an extremely interesting lecture series on Existentialism. Two growing groups at Trinity College also held regular lunch-hour discussion groups and evening meetings, and it is hoped that these promising new groups will continue to expand.

The S.C.M. weekends, composed of fun, study and sauna, form another aspect of this varied programme. Fall Camp, held at Hart House Farm in Caledon, was led by Mr. Small, who had taught in China under the Communist administration, and who spoke on the theme, "Towards an Understanding of Communist China". Agnostics Weekend, held at the House of the Four Seasons near Peterborough, was led by Prof. W. G. Friend, who presented an agnostic position, and by the Rev. C. A. Russell of Trinity College who presented a Christian position. As in previous years, a Spring Camp has been planned the weekend immediately following the examinations, when hard-working S.C.M.'ers can relax at Hart House farm. A Christmas Conference, attended by members of six universities, was held at Renison College, University of Waterloo. The speaker was the Rev. Douglas Hall who gave four lectures on the theme, "An Introduction to Modern Theology".

Several issues which were prominent in the news aroused a response from the S.C.M. A letter was written to Gov. Barnett condemning his refusal to admit James Meredith to the University of Mississippi because he is a negro, and another was written to the Rev. Mr. Smith, a chaplain at that university, encouraging him in his stand against Gov. Barnett. The cabinet's announcement that S.C.M. would support a petition to be sent by the C.U.C.N.D. to the Canadian Government opposing the acquisition of nuclear arms excited a great deal of comment pro and con from various students.

Various types of work camps which will be situated in different cities throughout Canada are being planned for the summer months. Leadership training camps prepare students for full-time S.C.M. positions, White Collar Camps allow their members to receive employment in banks, offices or some form of business. Mental Health Camps enable students to see the real condition of mentally diseased people, and to help them in some positive way by working in the hospitals, and Industrial Work Camps, situated in the downtown areas of the big cities, are attended by those students who, by taking jobs in industry, wish to attempt to understand the problems of the working class. The students at each work camp live as a community, working at their individual jobs during the day, and then coming together in the evening for discussions.

52 The V.C.F. places emphasis on the reality and practicality of the life in Christ. It feels that as students cultivate the friendship of the living Christ, they will move together in a love and comradeship which is basic to the most exciting, satisfying, and useful way of life.

"To know Christ and to make Him known."

The V.C.F.'s motto indicates the movement's two-fold emphasis — to deepen the faith of committed Christians and to make known the person of Christ to the university world. But it is evident that the two cannot and should not be divorced in practice. Lecture series by Dr. P. Schrotenboer and Dr. L. Ford were intended for consideration of both committed and uncommitted students. The numerous Bible studies and discussion hours were again both doctrinal and evangelical. The purpose behind "social" events — skating parties, carol sings, informal supper meetings — was to share our convictions with our fellow students and to destroy a popular stereotype of Christian life as dull, unreflective, and insular.

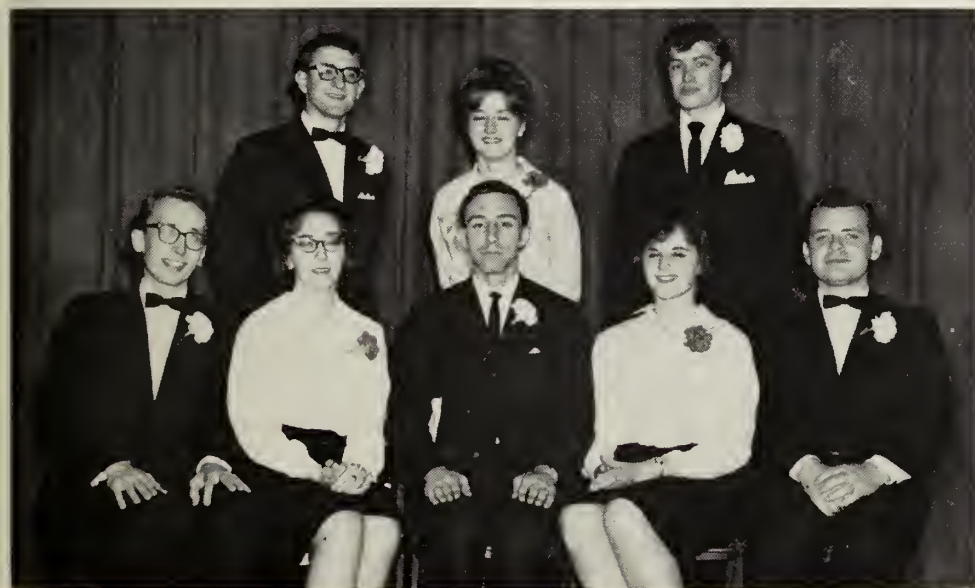

Along with other groups on campus, V.C.F. is concerned in welcoming international students and introducing them to Canada. This year the chapter sponsored for internationals several evening events, tours of the city, a weekend in Ottawa, and a Christmas holiday at a Laurentian ski resort.

Complex and varied as the V.C.F. program may be, it has been realized that it is not in vast or ambitious programing but in the warmth of friendships and the spontaneity of frank discussion that our faith is strengthened and communicated. No effort is made to provide a shelter from university life or to usurp the devotional position of a church; V.C.F. aims to be an educated fellowship for Christians and searchers where the Christian faith may be interpreted, discussed and, above all, lived.

1962-63 was another active and successful year for the Ukrainian Students Club. At the monthly meeting a balance was struck between cultural and social activities. Guest lecturers included Prof. N. Field of the Department of Geography and Prof. G. Luckyj of the Department of Slavic Studies.

This year over 50 members formed the USC choir and 10 members enjoyed themselves in the club folk-dancing group. The weekly rehearsals of these two groups culminated in a concert on February 10.

The biggest social event of the year was the Annual Graduation Banquet and Ball held this year at the Mayfair Inn on February 15. A less formal dance was held in November in addition to a wiener roast in the first week of the fall term.

The Campus Co-operative Residence has been described in the Torontonensis for several years. Each article has pointed out that the Co-op is unique among university residences. This uniqueness has been attributed to the low fees, work schedule, large number of foreign students, co-ed dining units, etc. However, these differences aren't fundamental. If the Co-op was similar to the university residences, it would still be unique, for it is owned and operated by the students living there.

As a co-operative its policy is guided by the members' interpretation of the Rochdale principles. These principles were established by the founders of the first co-operative in mid-nineteenth century Britain as the most inexpensive, practical and democratic means of providing goods and services, resting with the consumers. Some of the principles apply only to economics (sell for cash at market prices; pay limited interest on capital; return patronage dividends; one member one vote, i.e., votes rest with the members, not with their amount of shares in the corporation). They are a part of the structure of the corporation and do not demand attention.

The other four principles (neutrality in race, religion and politics; constant education; open membership; and constant expansion) do not directly follow the institution of a co-operative. They are goals for each group of members who strive to attain these ideals, distinguish their co-operation from those who are co-operatives in name only. In the C.C.R.I. their interpretation leads to differences in opinion leading to many heated discussions. The pursuit of these principles is the essence of C.C.R.I., a residence striving to become a co-operative.

The last two principles, open membership and constant expansion, are the point of contact between the co-op and the university. According to the C.C.R.I.'s interpretation of open membership their services should be open to all students who seek low-cost residence facilities. The members of a co-operative who are enjoying goods and/or services at low rates should not close the organization but extend these to others. The members of Campus Co-op, then, practise constant expansion in an attempt to provide open membership.

In the Co-op's attempt at constant expansion a pattern has evolved. The current members forego advantages they could obtain from their present financial situation and exert considerable time and effort to secure better facilities for more students in the future. The first signs of this pattern were expressed dramatically in 1937 when the founding members, pinched by the depression, voted to return their surplus funds to the organization instead of distributing them among themselves.

As the C.C.R.I. increases in size the expansion gathers momentum. A larger budget now affords a Business Manager who advises the Student Board of Directors on legal, financial and real estate matters. There is a larger cash reserve and well-established credit to purchase and mortgage property. There are, most important, more members to work out the problems of this growing concern.

Within the past few years the student members of this corporation have expanded in two directions, to accommodation for married students and new facilities for single students. Now, in addition to six houses for resident single students, they own six houses and lease seven others. These are sublet into apartments for married students, thus providing services sorely needed on this campus.

The second direction of present expansion, towards better accommodation for single students, will be effected by a new building to house 90 students. The property on Glen Morris is purchased; a planning committee is working with the alumni to raise funds for furnishing the building. Another group of students is studying the by-laws of the corporation to ensure that the structure of administration keeps pace with physical expansion.

The unique quality of the co-op then rests not with its cosmopolitan atmosphere or student administration but rather with the members. These are students, naturally concerned with their academic career and personal development. They are also generally concerned with the university community to the extent that they take the time, effort and exercise to provide low-cost residence facilities for an increasing number of the fellow students.

The Lutheran Student Club meets at University Lutheran Church and Student Centre every second and fourth Thursday of the month. The club is affiliated with Gamma Delta, an international Lutheran student group, and locally co-operates with the Lutheran Student Movement in Canada.

In order that college men and women may be effectual witnesses of their faith in Christ, Gamma Delta stresses the importance of Christian knowledge /Gnosis/ and Christian service /Diakonia/. Accordingly Bible study, discussion of topics of Christian relevance, devotions and worship are at the very centre of the program. Special topics presented by guest speakers and members of the group this year included medical ethics, church music, church and public relations, ecumenical movement, the deaconess program, the Bible societies and missions of the Church. The social program of the Club includes singing, picnics, parties, athletic and cultural activities. Students work together preparing cost suppers and in planning meetings and social events with other similar groups. In January several students attended the Lutheran Student Movement in Canada retreat held at Cherry Hill Farm. Plans for summer activities are being made.

University Lutheran Church is located at 610 Spadina Avenue. The chapel is open daily for prayer and recreational facilities are provided in the Student Centre. All are welcome to participate in the program.

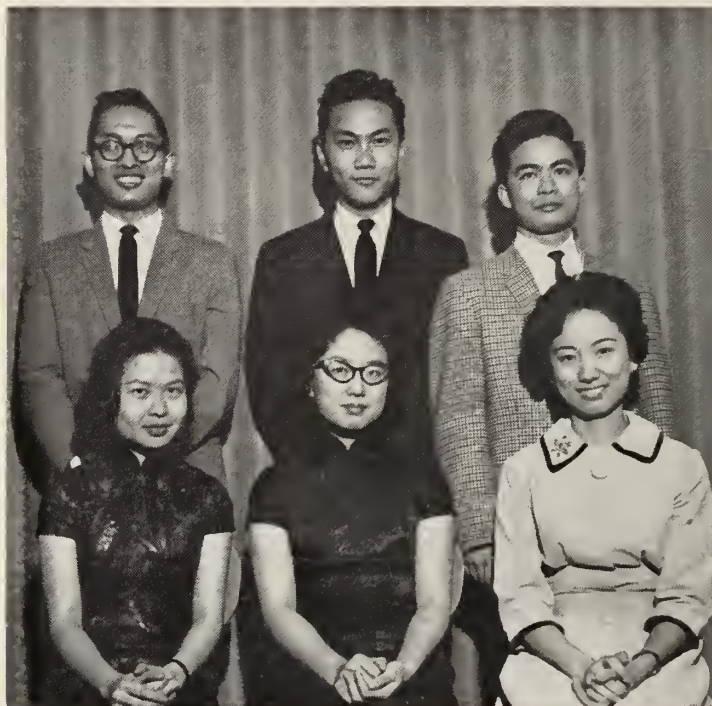

Being an "intellectually respectable" club, without formal organization, a treasury, or a bureaucracy, the Political Economy Club possesses a certain amount of distinction in being able to function at all. Our purpose was to separate future economists and political scientists from their ivory towers for at least several hours each month. To this end, under the capable guidance of Malcolm Martini, and a fluctuating central planning committee, we have presented six informal seminars on Wednesday nights in Hart House this year, bringing together students in Political Science and Economics, professors from this and other departments, and representatives from the business world, to discuss topics of practical interest to all — Latin America, automation, population problems, planning, a certain political party's monetary ideas, and liberalization in Russia.

Most of those in their fourth year of Political Science and Economics have attended one or more of these seminars, and we all feel that such combinations of people from relatively separated worlds have been productive of provocative and sometimes violent discussions. We trust that Professor Easterbrook's patience has not been strained beyond the breaking point, and depart wishing the best to our successors in what we hope will be a continuing venture.

The COSA is one of the largest national organizations on the campus, having a membership of over 160 Chinese students from Hong Kong, Formosa, and South East Asia. The association strives for the promotion of international understanding and the preservation of Chinese culture; at the same time it is hoped that the association will serve as a hand among Chinese students. To fulfill the above aims the following activities were organized: —

- (a) Welcome Gathering for old and new students.
- (b) China Night 1962.
- (c) Christmas Dance.
- (d) Christmas Outing to Caledon Hill Farm.
- (e) Graduation Banquet and Chinese New Year Celebration.
- (f) Publication of the COSA Year-Book.

1962-1963 was a successful year. 350 guests of different nationalities were entertained with Chinese music, Chinese songs, and a Chinese play at the Annual China Night 1962.

This term marks the twenty-fifth successful year of the C.S. Organization on campus. This year, meetings, which include readings from the Bible and our denominational textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, were held twice a month in the friendly atmosphere of the S.C.M. Student House. Visitors are always welcome.

The highlight of the year was a special lecture delivered at Wymilwood in January by a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church in Boston, Massachusetts.

Since no blood stream is complete without red cells, we have organized one here, which engages in such subversive activities as participating in panel discussions, holding public meetings, distributing the Communist viewpoint and running for model parliament. We have the distinction of being the first campus organization in the history of the University of Toronto to call off a public meeting because our speaker was turned back at the border. We also have the honour of being defeated by the spoiled ballots, in spite of which we did elect two members to model parliament, which is two more than we are electing federally, and were thus able to spread the un-American idea that no man has a right to make profit from the labour of another.

DAVID BLACK
BARRY RIDDELL

1962-63 has been a big year for the Geography Club. The highlight of the year was the annual Christmas Party featuring songs and skits. The Staff wrote and dedicated a ballad to the graduating year depicting their joys in having such fantastic students. Lines such as "Dagnja's dozing off again" filled the chorus. Other major events included the annual hockey game at Varsity Arena; speakers such as Dr. Hart, of the University of Indiana, and Dr. Wolfe, of the Ontario Department of Highways.

Joseph McCulley / Warden

It is a commonplace that the physical environment in which man lives has changed more in the past fifty years than in many previous centuries. The span of one normal life has seen the development of transportation and communication that only a few short years ago was in the realm of science fiction. Man today probes the atom and with equal temerity explores the reaches of outer space.

But with all our knowledge has man gained understanding? A glance at the front page of any newspaper will indicate how difficult it is for man genuinely to communicate with his fellow man.

One of the functions of a university is to increase the store of human knowledge; in my judgement it is a more important function to develop in its students and teachers a sense of awareness, of sympathetic insight and some vision of "the beloved community" which could exist if man wished to create it. The university community itself should reflect this spirit. To be more specific, it is my personal hope that Hart House may in some small measure be productive of that common fellowship, that true society, which is described in our Founders' Prayer. If we have lived well during the current year, something of worth, of dignity, of truth and beauty, has been added to the history of this House and the lives of all those whom we have tried to serve.

62 Art films, plans for exhibitions, purchases, hangings, print rentals — around these, the Art Committee pivoted its efforts. Some may regard this Committee as one for those with a highly specialized concern, an opinion which this year's opportunities belied. A visit to the Zacks' collection highlighted a year in which purchases of Urquhart, Reppen and Pflug paintings focussed attention primarily on contemporary Canadian work in the abstract. Amongst visits to galleries and studios, one of the most successful years in hanging exhibitions in the Gallery took place. Notable among these shows were Mr. Will Ogilvie's Retrospective Exhibition and the six-week show of Picasso Prints on loan from the National Gallery. With the renovation of the Permanent Collection well in hand and the publication of an expanded volume on the Collection pending, the Committee's labours have indeed been fruitful.

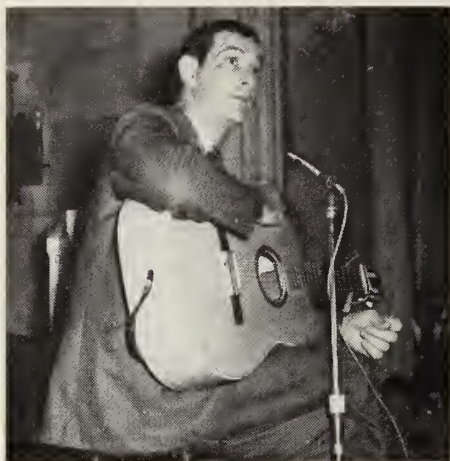

Many will remember 1962-63 as the year of Toby Robins at Hart House Debates. The talented actress, wife and mother was the first woman to be Honorary Visitor at a debate in thirty-five years as she spoke to the question "The Woman's Place is in the Home". This was also the only debate in history at which women were allowed to speak and vote. The debating aficionados will more likely remember this as the year of David Lewis, Claude Jodoin, General Guy Simonds and Pierre de Bellefeuille who spoke on questions ranging from the Common Market and the political activities of Organized Labour to defense policy and Confederation. Also a highlight of the year was the visit of the British Universities Debating Team featuring Mr. Alan Andrews, B.A., University of Leeds, and Mr. Prior-Palmer of Oxford University.

The challenge of maintaining the musical tradition in Hart House and at the same time catering to the dynamic tastes of its 9,000 Undergraduate members and their guests has been met this year with a number of concert series. The Sunday Evening Concerts featured the Canadian String Quartet, pianist Jacques Abrams and 'cellist George Ricci in a programme repeated at Carnegie Hall, New York, later in the year, young Canadian pianist Bill Aide, the Youth Choir of St. George's United Church with their director, Lloyd Bradshaw, the Canadian Opera Company, the Toronto Woodwind Quintet and, of course, the superb Hart House Glee Club.

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation co-sponsored two events with the Committee, featuring Shirley Verrett-Carter and 'cellist Janos Starker. In the Wednesday 5 O'Clock Recitals the Committee endeavoured to give young artists a chance to meet new audiences. Of the six concerts in this series, those given by Maurice Brown and Carol Ann Currie and the Toronto Renaissance Quintet (leader, Wolfgang Grunsky) playing the Hart House Viols were of particular enjoyment and interest.

Jazz is relatively new in the House, but the jazz programme is constantly expanding. The Jazz Sub-Committee presented Joe Williams with the Junior Mance Trio and, in keeping with the policy of featuring Canadian artists, presented a concert in the Great Hall with "Nimmons 'N Nine". The Noon-Hour Concerts this year were entirely in the jazz-folk-song idiom, and as usual were all performed by student artists on campus.

This year a Workshop was opened in the Debates Loft. Stocked with tools and test equipment for the use of members of the Club, the Workshop has seen several projects underway, and many of these finished. It has become a popular gathering spot at the noon hours.

Hart House
Finnish Exchange

Some of the clientele of this friendly popcorn pedlar spent their October weekends camp-following football heroes — and the Blues really began like heroes, winning two of their first three games including a thrilling justification for an otherwise unspectacular Homecoming Weekend. The bleacher set provided a raison d'être for our oft-idle university police, for during one game at the Bloor Bowl the SAC-sponsored crackdown on booze netted thirty intellectuals for the cells. One Metro police officer assigned to tame the boisterous student section was Negro and was splattered by bigoted abuse from members of a campus fraternity . . . the image-conscious SAC quickly apologized. The chap responsible for the outbreak of racial tension on campuses even had a fund established here in his honour. . . . The all-out campaign /cont'd by the James Meredith Fund realized a ⁷⁵ meagre $162.12, at which its outraged chairman provided the quote of the month . . . "I fear this shows apathy," he lamented. What else during October? A south-campus faculty with a tradition for practical jokes upset a tradition at a north-campus college with a tradition for traditions. Skule's daring-day-light theft of The Cake evoked a sour-grapish official protest from Trinity. President Kennedy then stepped into the picture. He provided The Varsity with what was probably its first "Extra!" since the paper's inception, and provided coffee-shoppers with weighty problems such as how to raise enough money to escape to a non-nuclear retreat somewhere. (The Virgin Islands were favoured — for those who could pass the physical.) But Real Caouette brought us back to reality again, with his courageous Convocation Hall plea for understanding . . . him?

Then nuclear weapons were investigated in earnest by an aggressive SAC committee. Three public hearings heard four faculty members and nine student speakers . . . thoroughly digesting all the submissions, the committee finally recommended that the information assembled be made available to the Canadian public so it could come to its own opinion . . . for the committee couldn't. Just another SAC service. It was a month when hairbrained schemes were tried to make money . . . and they worked. Five coeds kicked off the SHARE campaign but very little clothing, and teased lots of dough out of 400 engineers for even less privileged students overseas. The Mysore Freedom From Hunger idea-men went all out — cross-campus blitzes, bake sales, benefit folk singers, and a "mile of dimes" pulled in $1,240 of pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, Canada Tire coupons, and one cheese and tomato on rye. The lawyers cut the ribbon for their new building, Hart House resounded with student theatre . . . and the last-place football Blues finished the season the way they started — like heroes — by pushing St. Francis Xavier into the Atlantic Ocean.

90 The New Year starting off with an encouraging note as the Simcoe Hall gang decided to have mercy and relax parking regulations. But what was to the Administration a major unbending was regarded by students as "only a start". The move that caused most comment was the accompanying new policy of police supervision for the Soldier's Tower parking lot at night. "I feel so safe now," one coed commented for posterity. "Isn't it terrible?" Model Parliament dominated the campus for the first half of the month, although the sessions themselves were mediocre. . . . Had the political debate been up to the standard of the wisecracks there might have been a lesson or two for the boys in Ottawa themselves — as it was, little was discussed and less was resolved. As for superlatives, most ambitious and successful undertaking of the month was the weekend-long mass arts-a-thon held at Victoria College. "Man Bites Dog" story of the month was the news that Canadian University Press was launching an investigation on the RCMP. Wonder what became of that? And then a few engineers and St. Mike's boys decided to supply some graphically illustrative material to a debate on birth control . . . and the month was wafted gently away on the wings of a snow-white helium-filled prophylactic.

Winter Carnival time. The Blue and White Society, doubtless the hardest-working SAC-sponsored group of them all, really outdid themselves with this one — the Tarriers, a star-studded ice show . . . and even a few surprises. (Who could have foreseen that a team of fragile P&OT girls would wrest the world chariot-racing title away from Skule?) Students barely had time to recover from the Weekend when they were given that old-time religion in a big-time new way . . . by Leighton Ford, brother-in-law of Billy Graham and quite a preacher in his own right. The bedroom-eyed John the Baptist barnstormed the campus for three days — and, like Daniel in the den of lions, he conducted his Christianity campaign from a platform in University College! Trinity held a conference on African affairs, the Canadian Inter-Varsity Drama League held a festival, the Red Cross held a blood campaign, the UC Lit held more CURRENT lectures, and The Varsity held a contest with SAC prexy Jordan Sullivan as first prize . . . oh, but that one wasn't till March.

120 For three years now, my classmates and I have sought truth. We have explored many avenues of thought, only to find that most of them culminate in disillusionment. The truths of science have given birth to a monster and have added much to our material well-being, but these have left unchanged the nature of man. Other areas of truth are also impotent in this respect. The Christian makes a startling claim — the scandalous and offensive claim that he has come to know the Truth that is able to change men's natures. This Truth is that which is revealed in Jesus Christ, the Son of the living God. A theological education is concerned with the enlargement of our understanding and comprehension of this Truth. The graduating class of Knox College has been guided in this search for understanding by men of strong intellect and faith. Now we step forth as leaders in the Christian Church to put into practise the principles here learned and to declare the transforming Truth that is Jesus Christ. Here is the only answer to man's real need; a living relationship with his Creator which will enable him to stand among all the crises of life.

We have been taught many things but in the last analysis it is a reliance upon God's Holy Spirit that will enable us to declare the Gospel which is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believes. The Gospel we preach penetrates into the very centre of man's being, and in shattering his false illusions and securities, confronts him with Christ who makes man a new creature. We may now step out of the University offering all that we have to God and His work. Throughout the coming years our minds will often turn to thoughts of Knox College and our participation in the life of the University, where we hope a searching quest into all areas of truth will ever continue. It is a pleasant privilege to offer to the University graduates of 1963 the congratulations of the graduating class of Knox, and the prayer that the blessing and guidance of our Creator will be with you throughout the years.

PRESIDENT
NEW COLLEGE

Well, what's New? This pun, terrible 'though it may be, keynotes this message rather well. What, in fact, is New? By this time, most people in the University have heard of New College and its function on campus. In this space, I hope to convey to you my impressions of the College's first year, for these past eight months will be the foundation from which a great tradition will evolve.

New College is unique in more than its multifaculty nature. It is signally outstanding in the high degree of autonomy possessed by its student body, and evidenced in its Student Council. Principal F. E. Wetmore, speaking at the Freshman Banquet, stated that it was up to students to form the ethos of New College, and, to this end, the administration gave us free rein in student affairs. This trust placed upon us a great responsibility to ourselves, the staff, and the University as a whole, a responsibility which dictated that we conduct ourselves in a manner warranting the faith placed in us. Each member of the College realized that he was part of an experiment in which he was one of the major unknown quantities.

Many people expressed surprise and concern at our ambitious programmes but their anxiety has been proven unwarranted as our plans surpassed even our own expectations of their success. In every field of endeavour, three characteristics were evident: quality, quantity, and originality. This, then, is the ethos of New College. Certainly there are a great many areas in which improvement will be necessary in the coming year, just as there are many social and athletic possibilities we were unable to explore because of temporal or financial limitations. Our debut was relatively inauspicious. However, this very lack of advance publicity was an asset in itself, for it allowed us to go about our business without the spectre of preconceived public opinion hanging over our heads. It allowed us to set our own goals, to work within our own conception of our capabilities, and, most important, to exhibit a quiet strength of character that has won the respect and admiration of all those who have come to know us.

The undergraduate of New College is as unique as the institution of which he is a member. The relatively large number of transfers in the intermediate and senior years is evidence of the pioneering spirit possessed by the student body. The staff and those who did contribute of themselves have left behind them the seeds of an enduring tradition, a monument to their interest, and, in themselves, feel a satisfaction tempered only by the regret that they were unable to do more. It is they who have formed the ethos of New College, not merely a nameplate on a building, but a progressive academic institution inviting participation, co-operation, and the free exchange of ideas in an atmosphere of kinship. To you, as student President and a graduate of New College, I say, "Thank you, I am proud to have taken part." 127

New College in its initial year on campus has established an image of spirit and success and has been well represented in all phases of University life.

Socially many successful parties have taken place with the formal and Christmas gathering as the highlight.

Another event to be mentioned is the fourth-place float in the Homecoming Parade.

Athletically Rugger brought forth an early championship which encouraged all other teams to follow.

A large share of this year's credit must go to Dr. Whetmore. He worked constantly to maintain a high standard of excellence of the College he himself helped set and with the student body showed that many diverse faculties can work together successfully.

New College Honour Banquet

The first New College Honour Banquet was held in the Great Hall at Hart House on February ninth of this year. The purpose of this annual banquet is to honour those students who have made outstanding contributions to college life during the preceding year.

The New College Honour Award, which is given each year to the undergraduate who has contributed most to the College, was presented to the President of the Student Council, Gary Lambert. Gary's avid interest and singular achievements in all phases of scholastic and athletic endeavour made him the choice for this Award.

The Student Council also honoured the spirit and achievements of Bob Kellerman and Florence Maskell by presenting to them the Men's Athletics and Women's Athletics Honour Awards.

A College entering the Interfaculty athletic programme in the first year of its life takes upon itself a very difficult task. The difficulty is multiplied when almost the entire student body is composed of freshmen. It is for these reasons that the athletes of New College deserve a great deal of praise.

However, the College was determined to undertake a full programme and entered teams in all major sports. Participation was excellent and the results were gratifying to all.

Our most noteworthy achievement came in the fall when our freshman team won the Division II Rugger Championship. The team was undefeated throughout the entire season and was assured of the title in a thrilling overtime victory in the final game of the schedule. All New College wishes like success to next year's team!

The excellent volleyball team also reached the finals in its league but unfortunately was defeated short of the Championship laurels. This was another team which worked hard to win every game it played. Since this squad was composed entirely of first-year men we foresee another successful season for them next year.

Slightly less spectacular but no less pleasing were the Basketball, Hockey and Water Polo teams. All three teams have done very well in their respective leagues by proving to be stiff competition for any challenger.

Although this is a small college at present, the number of our men who participated has indeed been heartwarming. There is a keen interest which certainly will increase in the future. A greater student body next year and the acquisition of new equipment cannot fail to stimulate the production of even finer New College teams.

New College is definitely in contention for the Second Division title in the Reed Trophy race. But even more important than this achievement is the good impression made by all the teams which represented the College this year. They have initiated a tradition which will be continued by the men of New College in the years to come.

"DON'T BE PASSIVE — BE ACTIVE" was the motto for the girls of New College. Actually, not too many were active; however, considering our size — approximately one hundred girls — a fairly good showing was made. Basketball, volleyball, bowling and hockey were the sports in which most participated.

The New College basketball team certainly was full of spirit and fun. Victories were not too prevalent; however, the team tried its best. One of the highlights of the basketball season was our exhibition game which was arranged between New College and York University. The score . . . New College 7 — York 8. As you can see, it was a very close game.

Two bowling teams from New College were entered in the Women's Interfaculty Bowling Tournament, the volleyball team made an excellent showing, and two girls from New College participated in intercollegiate and interfaculty hockey.

I hope that next year more participation in women's athletics will take place and that more individual sports will be entered. This year New College made time-consuming demands on all its students in the form of various administrative committees; consequently, next year there will probably be more girls available for activity in women's athletics.

I wish to thank Elizabeth Kocmur, Pam Nash, Marcia Novak, Rona Goldberg, Florence Maskell, and Lyn Wheeler for their help as representatives in the various sports.

Attempting to maintain the best of last year's tradition, and to direct interest to newer areas, this year's student government has forwarded several considerations; including among them the Honour Society of St. Michael's College, the Men's Residence Committee, and a series of panel discussions on topics of current interests; a complete revision and reorganization of our constitution, and a legislative programme directed to widen the sphere of student responsibility.

At time of writing, interest appears to be running extremely high concerning elections for 1963-64; elections over a month away. This is a gratifying phenomenon. It is also justified as there is no doubt that the concept of student government as delineated at this college provides the individual and the student body a very widening scope for initiative and accomplishment.

This council has taken its responsibility in serious light but has never lost the ability to laugh at itself. From its fortunate complex of vital personalities has come its success. May our successors employ love, faith, and reason to discern principle and to meet practicality.

The St. Michael's College Honour Society is an undergraduate society established by the Students' Administrative Council in conjunction with the administration of St. Michael's. Most generally, its foundation was primarily intended to foster the tradition of academic excellence at the college. The society accordingly meets at least once a month to work out concrete suggestions in keeping with such an aim. The range of possibilities is obviously very broad indeed — lectures, symposia, seminars, panel discussions — and since potential topics are practically unrestricted, a great deal of scope is retained for imaginative and flexible proposals.

Once agreement is reached, the society is responsible for the organization of any event it wishes to sponsor. Membership is limited to between eight and twelve students in the graduating year of an arts course, or in another faculty provided that at least three years have been spent in the university, at least one in residence at St. Michael's. The society was thus expected to become a compact body well versed in the traditions and interests of fellow-students. "Outstanding scholarship" and a "proven record of academic excellence" are pre-requisites, but insularity is avoided by the requirement that the student must have exerted a "positive influence" on life at St. Mike's.

The inaugural activity of this year's fledgling group was the sponsoring of a lecture by Miss Cecily Hastings, a British theologian — an attempt which, admittedly, was only mildly successful. However, the society redeemed itself with room to spare by means of a panel discussion, St. Michael's Fr. Baum, Trinity's Fr. Fairweather, and Victoria's Dr. Fennel on the subject of the ecumenical council. This February, a staff-student seminar is being planned, revolving around the theme of university education; it is fully expected that this event will prove even more successful than the last.

The year '62-'63 marks a highly successful year for women's sports at S.M.C. Participation in the individual sports reached its peak this year. As far as championships are concerned, it is a different story. However, the girls at S.M.C. must be congratulated when enthusiasm and keen competitive spirit are discussed.

The fall term opened very successfully with S.M.C. taking the tennis championship at the University. Hildegard Balogh and Lynn Eby also made the U. of T. tennis team. One of the two baseball teams made the finals, while both basketball teams finished at the top of their respective leagues.

A record number of 65 girls signed up to play hockey this year. The three teams shared wins, loses, and ties under the able coaching of Steve Ponese, Brian Bellmore, and George Olah. Duane MacDonald surprised many by her skillful stickhandling. Anita Slazak completed her second year with the Intercollegiate Hockey Team.

In badminton, Carol Staples showed great skill, while Mel Baldassi again appeared on the Intercollegiate Volleyball Team. The girls at S.M.C. are anxiously awaiting the inauguration of field hockey as an official interfaculty sport. Since several girls at S.M.C. are Americans and have played up to five years of this sport, S.M.C. proves to be a serious threat to the domination of this sport next year.

Best of luck girls, we are sure you can do it.

The spirited Irish of St. Michael's College, perennial challengers and '61-'62 winners of the coveted Reed Trophy, started the '62-'63 campaign in grand fashion by gaining playoff honors in three major fall sports.

Led by Coach Mike Lisko, the sometimes fabulous, sometimes exasperating, off-and-on again, fighting St. Mike's footballers struggled through a 3-3 season and two playoff games to gain a finals spot against defending champs, Vic. Quarterback Chris Speyer kept the Irish's hopes alive during their sporadic drive for the title. Aiding the cool signal-caller were speedsters, Cascone, Hennessey, and Fiorini, and hard-running fullback, Bill "Rip" Meagher. Vic and St. Mike's, the only team to beat them, were both high as a kite for the title game, but the Vics had a longer string as they marched off with the Mulock Cup to the tune of 28-0.

The lacrosse team under the direction of Don Schmidt capped a brilliant 8-1 season by beating Vic 2-1 in a best of three finals. On their way to avenging the footballers the Irish were sparked by high scoring Bob Ferguson who dominated the interfaculty circuit.

Coaches Ernie Pangredisich and Cyril Grasso led the soccer team to a 4-1-1 record and the finals against Sr. Skule. After the first title game resulted in a 0-0 stalemate, the Engineers finally took the measure of St. Mike's 3-2 for the championship. Instrumental in producing a fine season for the Irish was the deft goaltending of Walt "Wally" Bulas.

Less fortunate than these three teams were the hapless rugger boys who failed to win in their first year of competition. However, what these chaps lacked in experience they made up for in spirit, as they time and again surprised their opponents with a hard-playing effort.

Speedster Paul Gaudet and high jumper Pete Carmichael once again represented St. Mike's in interfaculty as well as intercollegiate track and field. Pete took first place in the inter-faculty meet while Paul copped a second in the 100 despite a strained muscle.

Though not affecting the Reed Trophy standings, St. Mike's first annual tennis tournament under the supervision of Andy Durbak and Steve Ponessi was a smashing success. Thirty-one matches were played before Andre Creux was declared king of the courts.

Rounding out the first term in athletics was the outdoor basketball league formed by St. Mike's coach Paul Riley and Tom Kent. Six teams participated in this league which was a great aid in conditioning the players for the long interfaculty season.

At midyear St. Mike's trailed Vic by more than a thousand points in the race for the Reed Trophy. Then the Irish came alive to challenge the leader with strong finishes in basketball and hockey.

Coach Paul Riley guided the B-ballers to a brilliant 10-2 record and the regular season championship. Sparked by Ray Schaedler and Jerry Kavanaugh averaging seventeen and twelve points respectively, the A's were favoured to take the Sifton Cup in the playoffs. Norm Meahling's hockey A's finished with a 7-5 record to notch third place and a playoff spot. Led by goalie Casey Soden and the hard skating Mike's, Shea and Fullan, the Irish pucksters were given a good chance to take the title.

In all St. Mike's sent four teams each from basketball and hockey to the all-important playoffs. Though the waterpolo boys were eliminated, the squash fellows were represented by two teams in post season action. Never giving up, St. Mike's fought to the finish to keep the coveted Reed Trophy. Win or lose, St. Mike's shall be victorious, for she shall not have lost, nor shall she ever lose her spirit.

The Trinity College Board of Stewards is in the throes of another thrill-packed year. Or words to that effect. This body is the Executive Committee of the College Meeting, and as such is responsible for discussion and decision on various matters that arise concerning the Men of College, and for keeping peace and harmony among the organizations within the College. This sounds serious. Perhaps the members would like to think that their time was being spent on grave and significant matters. Some of it actually is.

The year's activities have ranged from the most mundane paying of bills, to the purchasing of a piano, the revising of the College song-book, the commissioning of a report on the food in Strachan Hall (ably handled), and the proposing of a revised Constitution (a lengthy business).

This is a most congenial group. Praises be for that. Someone once suggested that with all this goodwill abounding there was no need for the sherry party that preceded each meeting. But he was hastily corrected, and retracted his statement immediately. The Board has individually and collectively talked, yawned or brooded its way through a multitude of things. The quiet pride you notice in its members arises from their confident assurance that the College is in good hands.

The Literary activities of the year opened with an inter-year debate. The Freshies and feminists of 6T5 contended to decide whether "A Career and Marriage Can Be Successfully Combined". The annual Trinity-St. Hilda's debate saw potential polygamists defeated within their own halls when the St. Hildians defeated the resolution that "This House Deplores Monogamy". Unfortunately, the reputation of Canadian women was served a blow when the Engineers decided resoundingly that "Canadian Women Lack Passion".

A play was produced in Cartwright Hall by each year. 6T3 presented a commendable performance of "Overtones". "When Shakespeare's Ladies Meet" proved an amusing burlesque at the hands of 6T4. A solemn Nativity Play which was followed by mince-pies and a carol-singing, concluded the term.

The second term included an active debating program, highlighted by a return Trinity-St. Hilda's match. Guest speakers, a College Quiz, and the remainder of the year plays provided the term's further activities. The Literary year drew to a close at the Literary dinner in March where awards were presented for the best play and actress of the year.

This year, again, the Trinity College Dramatic Society proved itself capable of presenting a resounding success. "Trumpets and Drums", by Bertolt Brecht was one of the author's later comedies, and a recent translation was presented by the Society for the first time in North America, at Hart House Theatre.

The director-designer Herbert Whittaker created a set that was adaptable, painty, and delightfully Brechtian; the large cast was headed by Beth Morris, Garrick Hagon, and Alan Toff.

Reviewed as "familiar and funny", "bright and fast-moving", by the Toronto Star, this production was our only activity this year, but, we feel, justified our existence.

This year, the French enthusiasts at Trinity College have shown their diversified interests by numerous cultural activities.

The joint U.C.-Trinity production, Le Voyageur Sans Bagages by Anouilh, was a resounding success at Hart House. Professor Raynauld, Economist and visiting Professor from the University of Montreal, dissuaded us from separating from the province of Quebec. For those who are interested in the every-day use of the French language — almost everyone in the College — we have maintained the Club's reputation for organizing the most sensational meetings! All in all, going from skating to dances, from talks to a stip tease, the French club has presented a well-balanced programme calculated to please all its members.

The editorial board of the Trinity Review, with great optimism and vigour, has tried again this year to publish that "cross-section of creative literature, thought and events as seen by members of Trinity University" called for by its constitution. Since the College itself is changing, we have naturally modified to some extent the standards of literary accomplishment established in the past. Variety in material has continued, however, as our guide, and despite a pessimistic literary tendency to doom and despair, caused no doubt by the Review's existence in this Dark Age of the Bomb, everything from humour for its own sake to the most serious kind of philosophical and aesthetic speculation, has been included.

An increasing literary revival among the junior years, a keener interest in student activity and thought, and a more eager awareness of modern social and moral problems, have made the soliciting of suitable material an easy task. At the same time, very efficient business and advertising management has allowed a wider range of creative activity, including the reproduction of drawings in colour, to be presented in a larger format.

Once again the board of the Review feels that it has successfully lived up to its avowed objective: "to enhance the well-being of Trinity University directly or indirectly." Gently we pat ourselves on the back with a laurel branch, and unwillingly we vacate our Parnassus in favour of next year's board.

Freshie weekend, the informal initiation of the Freshies with their signs and halos, Gowning, Dubbing, the receptions, the Saints and the SJS (our two major dances), St. Hilda's night, and Episkopon (the night on which the ancient and venerable scribe descends from his abode in the tower at Trinity to chastise, educate, and entertain his daughters at St. Hilda's), and all our other traditional events have come and gone again with incredible swiftness.

This past year St. Hilda's is much more than just a residence — it is a college with resident and non-resident members, all of whom contribute to its life. In many respects it is quite unique. Every student entering St. Hilda's accepts membership in the College Meeting. Through this meeting are conducted the administration, policy and financing of the student activities in the College. College Meeting also organizes most of our yearly events. Much of the administrative work of the College is done by the College Committee which is composed of the Principal, the Head of College, the resident and non-resident elected heads of year and the SAC representative, while the resident members of the Committee deal with residence matters.

St. Hildians are often accused of belonging to a never-changing institution bound by its traditions. But this is a slight exaggeration, for during the past year our roof was adorned with a television aerial and the Freshies gave the cake destined for the Cakefight to a group of enterprising engineers. (An unheard-of occurrence!) Even more important, however, were the changes made in our method of electing our Head of College. Through gradual revisions like these we have, over the years, evolved a method of government which is both democratic and practical.

It is with deep regret that we say farewell to Miss Darroch, our Principal for the last ten years, who is leaving us this year. We wish her well in the years to come and thank her for all that she has given to the College.

Saint Hilda's sports programme enjoyed a new feature this year with the introduction of Field Hockey on a full scale. This energy-consuming sport proved to be very popular and, consequently, will be incorporated into Saint Hilda's regular sports schedule.

The Baseball team was eliminated at the semi-final level, and then proceeded to play the professors who, in a demonstration of athletic prowess and agility, collected a handsome victory.

The Basketball and Volleyball teams received enthusiastic support, although neither team dominated its league.

To date, the "A" Hockey team has gained a place in the league finals, while the Hockey B's have completed their season with a very commendable record. The professors have bravely issued a formal challenge for the Wallace I. Wolverton Hockey Trophy which the Saints took from them last season.

Saint Hilda's ever-popular Athletic Night was the highlight of the sports programme again this year. Inter-year competitions in Volleyball, Basketball, and Swimming filled the evening's roster.

Numerous Saint Hildians once more complemented Inter-Collegiate teams. Leslie Bull was a member of the victorious University Golf team, while Judy Ireland displayed superb diving techniques with the Swim team. Linda Reid, Jan "the flash" McAdam, and Heather Wright gained positions on the Hockey team, and Sue Foster and Di Lillie represented the University on the ski slopes. Each year, Saint Hilda's awards the Frances Endicott Trophy to the girl who has contributed most to the spirit of athletics in the college. This year the award has been bestowed on Diane Lillie.

THE CAST OF HOUSEMAN'S FRAGMENT OF A GREEK TRAGEDY.

The Classics Club has enjoyed a most successful year. Attendance at meetings has been consistently good, and the interest shown by non-Classicists has been most encouraging, and has contributed greatly to the vitality of the club. We have tried to provide a varied programme; subjects of discussion this year have ranged from Vergil's Campania to a mediaeval epic; from the Gracchi to a graduate student's impressions of modern Germany. Partly to avoid the reputation of offering merely an extension course of lectures for over-keen Classicists, we planned a lighter meeting at Christmas, which was held by the gracious permission of the Dean of Trinity College in his residence. We eschewed the traditional carols, and concentrated on celebrating the Roman Saturnalia. We were aided in this by Mrs. Dalzell, who kindly concocted for us some solid refreshment in the form of "globuli", made according to a recipe in Cato. They contained, among other things, wet sheep's cheese and spelt, and were most enthusiastically received even after the recipe had been revealed! The evening was also enlivened by a talk from Mr. Cole and Housman's parody of a Greek tragedy presented by the shrouded figures depicted above. This meeting was one of the highlights of what has been a very successful and enjoyable year.

It was a year of experimentation in our basement dungeon. Guided experimentation, of course, directed toward the realization of a campus journal. The biggest change came in the second term when the newspaper changed to a magazine format, more appropriate for the combination of fact and opinion, of polemic from staff and students, of design and creative writing, of social issues as well as college affairs. Despite such evolutionary confusion, we managed the unlikely task of publishing nine issues.

What is the UC Undergrad? We have consulted our sister publication, the Gargoyle — she is noted for her large fund of unpublished knowledge about such local questions — and the answer comes back that it is a cosy little room below the JCR with one typewriter whither it is the custom of the following to resort: poets, epic writers, story tellers and just plain whopper-tellers, scribes, rhymers, reasoners, and irrational people of every artistic and articulate sort. And once a year we take on our public role of literary magazine.

Life in the office is as complicated as might be expected under the circumstances: there takes place, one might say, a continual process of composition and criticism, between sandwiches and borrowed cigarettes. There are no yardsticks of any material kind suitable to measuring the success of the Undergrad; our annual issue has its customary bulk and expense and no grateful public has yet provided our office in the tunnel with curtains. But a good time is had by all.

Variety. This has been the theme of this year's University College Player's Guild. Not wishing to limit ourselves to the once-a-year extravaganza of most drama clubs on campus, we decided to embark on a year-round programme of playreadings, one-act plays and lectures. Each of the programmes has a different purpose and each in turn has been very successful. The playreadings generally have been held in the evenings for Player's Guild members. Here was an opportunity for U.C. students interested in drama to entertain themselves and others without the pressures of a public performance. Informality and complete audience participation have made our playreadings a great success this year.

On the other hand, our one-act plays have been presented during noon-hours to any interested students. Entirely student produced, they have given many an opportunity to explore aspects of the theatre, such as direction, for which previously there was little outlet on campus. These plays were so well received that the playing time had to be extended and in the second term we were able to produce six. One of these plays, "Overlaid" by R. Davies, directed by Dale Daniels, was judged to be the best play in a UTDC evening of one-act plays.

Our lecture series, though not as long as we had hoped, was much better received than we had anticipated. Our lecturers this year were Dermot McNamara, Leon Major, and Sir John Gielgud. For the last we had to move from our home, the Women's Union Theatre, to Hart House Theatre, but even this was not nearly large enough to accommodate the crowd.

Our major production, "All My Sons", by Arthur Miller, directed by G. R. Proudfoot, was presented in November to a very enthusiastic audience.

The Player's Guild has been very fortunate this season to have a large and enthusiastic membership, and also the one thing that no other drama group on campus has, our own theatre. This has given us a focal point for our activities and the opportunity to present our diverse programme, a programme which we feel will become an integral part of campus life.

Students living at Sir Daniel Wilson often think first of the most obvious conveniences which the residence offers. With its central location — close to the Arts Building, University College and the library — members find that it is possible to arise very late in the morning and still return library books or arrive on time for nine o'clock lectures.

Convenience is not the only advantage which Sir Dan offers. The J. S. McLean Library, beneath Hutton House, has undergone a period of expansion in the past year and now contains an extensive and varied selection of books and periodicals from all fields. An additional stimulus to serious discussion comes from the informal Dean's evenings held in the Senior Common Room of Howard Ferguson Hall. The members are given an opportunity to talk with well-known figures from on and off campus, and to receive some of the benefits of a university education which lie outside the classroom. Among Dean Macdonald's guests so far this year have been Lord Amory, British High Commissioner to Canada, and Paul Streeten, Fellow of Balliol College, Oxford.

In a residence with a composition as varied as that of Sir Dan, one of the major advantages arises from discussion between groups of students with different backgrounds and outlooks. In order to promote this type of contact between the members, the Residence Council has taken the first steps of an ambitious program. The present auditorium below the dining hall is to be transformed into a central residence Common Room. A substantial portion of the cost will be borne by the residents themselves, and when the Common Room is completed the lack of a central meeting place will be overcome.

The initiation of a project such as this reflects a growing spirit of cooperation and constructive effort which is making itself felt in Sir Daniel Wilson.

This growing enthusiasm has also resulted in the expansion of the residence athletic program for 1962-63. In addition to informal basketball games between the Houses, and the residence ping-pong tournament, an organized touch-football league was innovated. A good response was obtained for this new venture, despite the fact that the games were played at early hours on weekend mornings.

The part of the sports program which arouses the keenest competition is the inter-House hockey league which gets under way in the second term. Games are played on the U.C. rink and the winning team receives the H. I. Macdonald trophy. This year the schedule has been expanded in response to the increased interest and the season now extends through February — or as long as the ice on the outdoor rink lasts.

The modern age has increasingly seen the disappearance of the idol of yesteryear, the spectacular athlete who has been replaced by a much more colourless animal, namely the spectator athlete. The two species can be easily separated since the former tend to sport wide shoulders and narrow hips while the latter are the opposite. Or is it the inverse?

Intramural athletics are designed to help build the complete individual. Thus, here, more than is usually the case, one may truly say, "it's how you played the game" that deserves applause. These pages are dedicated to those individuals who, year after year, make up the hard core of University College athletics. Some years they win and some years they don't, but the fact remains that these are the people who give of their time and energies for the sake of athletics. These are the people who at least attempt to fulfil the ancient ideal of Greek origin of the all-round individual. Let's remember also that, should Plato ever get his way, it will be from their ranks we will receive our philosopher kings.

This year, in spite of the decision by UC and PHE to enter separate teams in many events, UC's performance has consistently been good. The soccer, football, volleyball and lacrosse teams were successful in their respective divisions and in each case reached the playoffs. At this point the hockey, basketball, waterpolo, indoor track and squash schedules are still in progress, but in most of them UC is again in a position to reach the playoffs.

With the tumult and the shouting done, Victoria College again places its mark on the history of the university. The newness and innovations of the previous year achieved consolidation. But this was not a sign of static complacency; rather, it was a necessary condition for growth. The College had to recuperate from the rapid increase in members and innovations, and has had the task of forming experiments into lasting institutions.

The Council, now past the experimental stage, worked effectively, and without ostentation to organize and supervise the extracurricular life of the College. Initiations brought together the freshman crowd to view the campus and each other. In addition to the trauma of this experience, they were exposed to a lively programme of entertainment and serious discussion.

Productions were combined under an independent central committee. Instead of producing an ominous power bloc, the committee guided college shows with remarkable efficiency and forbearance. "Stillwater", the Bob Revue fall show, thrilled full-house audiences, and again won the trophy for the best student-written musical production on campus. The Music Club wrapped up another large-scale success with its production of "The Pajama Game". Talent and experiment combined to offer Vic and the whole university two brilliant plays, "Everyman" and "The Caucasian Chalk Circle".

The Victoria Conference on the Arts in Canada, under no burden but the title, provided a university-wide opportunity to discuss and investigate the dramatic arts.

A success in every way, the Conference is well on its way to becoming an annual event, and has justified its place in Victoria's cultural life.

Athletics had no less measure of success this year. With a temporary set-back, the Scarlet and Gold football machine easily overpowered a game opposition to break their previous record for holding the Mulock Cup. They marked up the fifth in an unprecedented total of five straight victories.

In social activities, 1962-63 was a lively year at Vic. The "Howdy Hop" set the pace with a near record attendance. The old Scarlet and Gold gave way to the Vic Fall Dance — a memorable mid-term occasion. And to wind up, the Victoria College Formal moved to Casa Loma where music and atmosphere were not lost on the appreciative multitude.

The contributions of Victoria students has been felt also in university activities. In Hart House Committees, Varsity athletics, exchange visits and most notably in the Chairman of the Winter Carnival, Vic students rose to interfaculty fame.

The graduates of 6T3 have seen the expansion of the college and the entire university both physical and academic. We are grateful for many varied memories. In the following years, may future classes experience the same measure of success and achievement.

There is only one word to describe the activities of 6T3 and that is fantastic! Everything attempted was unbelievably successful. The Howdy Hop in '63 broke all records of attendance, enthusiasm, and profit; the class parties were sensational and the Graduating Banquet was a fitting tribute to an enterprising executive, and the most illustrious Class ever to pass through the portals of Victoria College.

Most activities sponsored by the class of 6T4 met with good response. On freshman weekend the "Activities Arcade" designed to let all member organizations at Vic advertise their activities was so successful that all clubs reported an increase in membership this year. The Class Banquet proved to be an interesting evening highlighted by Professor Peter Butenhuis, who gave a satirical and humorous talk on the outdated liquor laws of Ontario. The Blood Campaign and the Fall Dances were not successful numerically, but did show an improvement over former years. The final activity was a skating party with 6T3 during which our age began to show, as many of us had forgotten how to skate.

Once in a very long while an executive of such great ability comes to the fore to represent a year that is renowned for its magnitude, personality, and basic virility. Our executive is not such a one. With all due modesty, may we say that we started off the year by selling ties and "bloops" to the Frosh. Next, we were responsible for organizing Initiation Week for the tiny class of 6T6 — all 850 of them. The Vic Formal was another big project. We held two class parties — a "grapes and mattresses" Toga party and a Stag-Twisterama. Many thanks to any who have helped in our various endeavours.

From the beginning of the Freshman week-end throughout the school year, 6T6 has distinguished itself as a class of outstanding ability and spirit.

The year's activities began during Freshman week, with the kidnapping of three 6T5 executives by the members of 6T6. The year continued with a United Appeal campaign, and two Caledon week-ends, in November and in December. To close out a successful year, 6T6 had a spectacular and well-attended party at Wymilwood in February.

272 The Victoria College Debating Parliament has just completed another successful year. A high standard of debate on the many serious and weighty topics was maintained from the opening session last October to the Faculty Debate held in March. During the year, such issues as "the Victoria Conference on the Arts is a menace to society" and "the Middle Class is the Salt of the Earth" were hotly contested. Interfaculty debates were feature attractions with Victoria going forth on several occasions while other contingents came to Alumni Hall to test the Victoria stalwarts. Impromptu debates were run throughout the year in the Copper room, climaxing in the finals held at the faculty debate. Many thanks are extended to all those who showed their interest and gave their support to make the last year a success.

The Contemporary Club, bloated beyond recognition with over two hundred members, began the year ambitiously with visits to The Hostage and Beyond the Fringe in the same week; both were well supported by enthusiastic members. Encouraged by this, the executive planned more large events and came into conflict with some mysterious law of diminishing returns. As the year went on, fewer and fewer people showed interest, and members of the executive began taking to drink and dope (how contemporary can you get?). A desperate gamble, a talk on jazz by the prominent American jazz pianist, Willie Ruff, paid off, and the panicked executive calmed down. But this was merely a ruse of fate, and she continued to hinder our efforts — eight people, perhaps only five, would appear at events. At the end of the year, after cleverly electing a totally new executive, the old executive jumped together from the roof of Vic.

Victoria College
Church Student Union
French Club

The Victoria College Church Student Union meets weekly in Stephenson House to discuss the situations the church must face in modern society. Various speakers, including Dr. C. D. Jay, Principal Cousland from Emmanuel College, Professor Boyle of Victoria College, Dr. Mutchmor, Dr. Long of United Church House, and several others in the ministry of the church have spoken to the group. At other meetings the students themselves have led in Bible Study and discussion.

In addition to the weekly meetings the group held a Wiener Roast, a Fall Tea, a Retreat at Five Oaks and a Spring Banquet.

The French Club of Victoria College provides the opportunity for students to enjoy themselves, while improving their French. Our thirty-five members meet five times during the year in a programme of various activities.

This year especially we enjoyed a Christmas meeting with the French Club of University College. The annual banquet in a French restaurant, where we sampled that famous French cuisine, terminated our activities for the year.

Spurred on by its financial and artistic success with Brigadoon last year, the Victoria College Music Club again decided to present a Broadway musical as its major production. The Pajama Game proved to be as successful, and as enjoyable for both cast and audience in its high-spiritedness.

The Club continued its sponsorship of a Madrigal Group, and its affiliation with the Chapel Choir. Also, the Club presented a group of Tuesday noon-hour student concerts, and a series of Sunday evening professional concerts. In conjunction with the Wymilwood House Committee, it ran the Record Room. The many social functions gave the members of all groups a chance to become acquainted.

Anyone viewing the blasted desert that was the Victoria College Dramatic Society's reputation at the beginning of last year, would have had little expectation of seeing anything memorable produced there. But in its two major efforts, the Society brought life, and even some beauty, to this depressing waste.

First was the production of the mediaeval moralist play Everyman, in early October. Produced in modern dress in the informal setting of the Music Room at Wymilwood, it had a powerful and moving effect on its audience.

Encouraged by this success, the production of Bertolt Brecht's Caucasian Chalk Circle went ahead enthusiastically, and entered Hart House in December with a brilliant set, bright costumes, fresh music and an eager cast. The result was, in the words of the reviewers "polished" — "amusing" — "a striking piece of theatre".

The Bob this year continued in the recent trend of original musical comedies at Vic, established with "Thirty-Seven" and "Mushroom Malady" — both award-winning shows themselves. "Stillwater" was still more ambitious, with a completely original plot, book, and music as before, and a professional orchestra to boot.

Randy Howard was responsible for the book and lyrics and turned out a wild tale of prohibition vs. small-town liquor interests that combined two love plots, one even involving a poor fellow trying to complete his sociology thesis, with a teenage "beat" crowd, a fervent fundamental preacher, a hectic birthday party, and many sorry awakenings the morning after the night before.

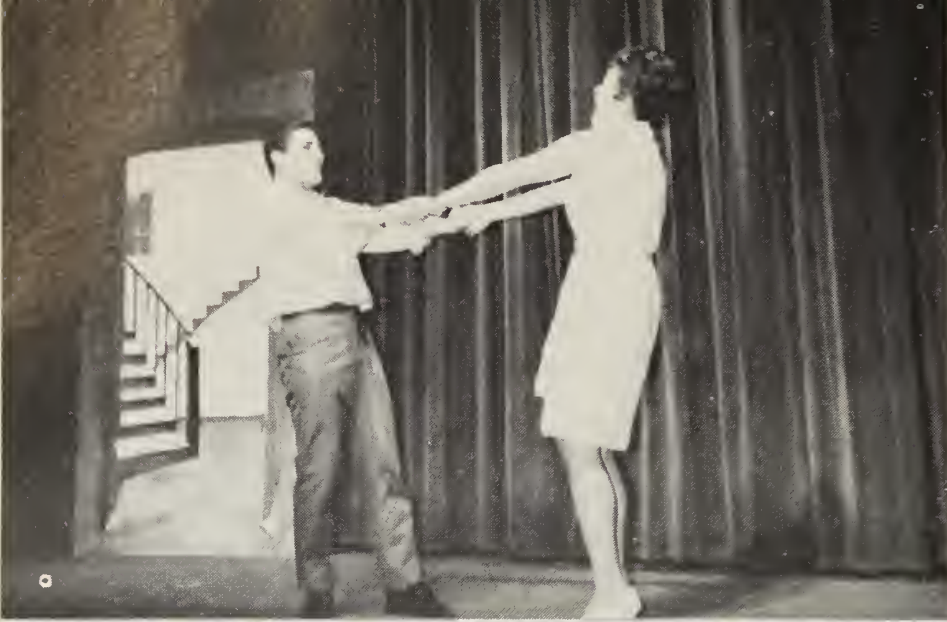

The music was probably the most original material for such a show in years, and handled by Peter Grant, it was composed and orchestrated for a professional group tailor-made for Hart House. To solve the problems of volume and variety that crop up in Hart House shows, Peter organized a group composed of three elements — a complete classical woodwind quintet, bassoon, clarinet, French horn, and two flutes, a driving jazz combo, vibes, bass, percussion, piano, trumpet, flute, and to add the touch of romance, a harp! The sounds that emerged when the orchestrations were put together, and the chorus of Vic voices added, were exciting and adventurous.

Production of the '62 Bob was under the capable management of David Crampton, and the direction was by Mike Cross.

Choreography, which included dancing to a jazz takeoff on Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, was handled by Joanne Trott, and she utilized a "Mouse Pack" of teenage juke-box addicts.

The leads were played by the cream of Vic's talent — Gerry White, Lynda Jenner, Doug Barr, Joanne Chong, JoAnne Noyes, Terry Cox, Bill Peters, Darlene Smith, all having leads in previous Vic shows. The show also uncovered some promising new talent — Susan Dales, Mike Beacom, Betty Trott, John Wilcox, and a marvelous "Nice Old Lady" played by Nancy Peart. The show ran for six nights, a new high, from October 29th to November 3rd, and even managed to show a profit!

Once again the Victoria College Classics Club has been engaged in educating and entertaining members of the Vic. staff and student body. Guest speakers from other Colleges have included Father Sheridan of St. Michael's in October and Prof. Dalzell of Trinity in January. In November the Vic. staff and students presented a debate "The Unbiased Truth" resulting from their research into the question "Was Socrates a Menace to Athenian Society?" In February Prof. Jay McPherson of the English Department spoke to us. The year's activities concluded with the Annual Banquet in March.

Acta Victoriana, established eighty-seven years ago, is the undergraduate literary publication of Victoria College. At the present time, it appears bi-annually in the late fall and early spring. The magazine is usually about fifty pages in length and contains poetry, short stories, and discursive prose. Last year the editors initiated book reviews into the magazine and this feature is being continued. The bulk of the material in Acta is written by Victoria students but articles by faculty members, graduate students and other people affiliated with Victoria College do appear on occasion.

The Strand, the Victoria College student newspaper, published twice monthly, attempts to highlight campus news. It also includes critical comment on matters of current interest here, and comments from Vic grads overseas. This year was highlighted by articles from the southern United States, from Africa, and from India.

The Strand pointed out the merits, and faults, of the three Vic productions — the Bob, the Caucasian Chalk Circle, and Pajama Game. As well, the Strand tried to bring out Vic's more humorous side, stating that one could see into the women's residence from the apartment building next door; that Vic students do have love problems, and that, like Quebec, we just might secede from U. of T. and go back to Cobourg.

The V.C.F. is a group of students who are either searching to know Christ, or already know Him, as the Son of God, as a personal Lord. Group activities vary from speakers, Bible studies, prayer groups, open discussions, to socials. Frequently, graduate students lead the discussion groups where the practicality of Christianity is tested and affirmed. Everyone is invited to attend these informal gatherings. Religious denomination is irrelevant. To know Christ and to make Him known; that is our motto. For once Christ is known, the knower has a natural desire to share his discovery with his friends.

This year the Vic. S.C.M. became autonomous from the University S.C.M. which meant that the Vic. group could send representatives with voting power to the National Student Christian Movement and, as well, establish their own programme for Victoria College.

A lecture series entitled "Existentialism" was held in the fall, led by four University professors. Two during the week noon hour groups were sponsored, a study of the Bible and an informal group discussion respectively.

In an effort to give the student a chance to meet his professors informally a number of "Prof. Talks" were held in the spring.

To round out an active year, two parties and a week of chapel services were held.

Co-operation, enjoyment and gracious living among the girls of Annesley and Addison Halls have been the concern of the Annesley Student Government this year. To this end ASGA, consisting of House Presidents, Executive, and Representatives from each year, under the presiding genius of Mother Asga, has met frequently to plan events large and small and to iron out various problems imaginary or real. Residence life has been made lively by a variety of activities. The Formal and Informal dances in the pleasant atmosphere of Annesley Hall provided an opportunity for all to blossom forth in their finery; seldom have so many lovely ladies been seen assembled in one place! For the festive, there was the Christmas dinner with its unforgettable beauty and laughter; for the sociable, exchange dinners with other girls' residences and (crowning victory of ASGA!) with Burwash Hall. For the musically minded, ASGA has started a record collection, and for the energetic, basketball tournaments were arranged between each House, Third Floor playing hard for their victory. After-dinner concerts and talks have rounded out the programme. We extend our thanks to Miss Macpherson and the Dons, and to the whole host of decorators, hostesses and miscellaneous volunteers who have helped to make this year a successful one.

This year may not have seen Victoria women walk off with many trophies, but in terms of participation and enjoyment, it has been one of the most successful. A concentrated drive in the fall term to acquaint as many girls as possible with the variety of athletic activities offered began with a Sports Night at the Benson Building. Basketball, volleyball, and badminton courts were opened, together with free swimming in the pool, and good fun was had by all who participated.

Interfaculty competition began early with the softball team leading the way under coaches Bob Shortly and Les Foreman. Golfers Nancy Sihler and Cathy Graydon were Vic's representatives in the Interfaculty Golf Tournament, with Nancy going on to place on the Intercollegiate team. The Vic Tennis championship was won for the third year in a row by our Badminton and Tennis Curator, Sue Levitt. The introduction of field hockey this year proved to be a tremendous success. The Interfaculty Swim Meet saw Victoria's mermaids do well both in speed and synchronized, but not quite well enough to overcome the depth of P&HE. Once more, Vic settled for second place, despite sparkling efforts by our intercollegiate swimmers Gill Fisher, Carolyn Evans, and Barb Shute.

The Freshies proved to be the enthusiastic group in basketball, as they formed two teams for Vic to go with the Junior-Senior team. None reached the finals, but all teams showed good spirit and sportsmanship during the schedule under the coaching of Donna Lindsay, Ann McLean, and Nancy Hill. We were able to enter four bowling teams in the Interfaculty Tournament. As a result, three Vic bowlers, Anne Yonson, Liz Armstrong, and Helen Short went on to place on the Intercollegiate Team and register high scores in the cross-country tournament. Archery saw Ginny Holmes and Pat Speight lead the way for Victoria, while in badminton Judith Langdon and Carol Smart teamed up to take the Vic doubles crown, after Carol had swept the singles title. Vic's two volleyball teams developed steadily throughout the season, under coaches Nancy Hill and Erika Wolke.

Vic's traditional stronghold, ice hockey, was once again very popular, with Vic entering three teams in competition. Guided by coach Bob Jacob, the Firsts again faced defending the championship they have held for the past five years. The Second and Third teams, coached by Gill Fisher and Linda Maki, carried over the keenness and spirit of Vic's hockey teams and put their best efforts into the games.

All in all, a good year for fun through competition in sports for all of Vic's women athletes.

The primary objective of men's athletics at Victoria College has traditionally been the attempt to combine a high degree of overall participation with top-calibre performance. In the light of this standard, the past year must be considered a very satisfying one. The general level of participation shows a substantial increase over last year, bringing it to its highest peak in several years. This has been the result of increased enrolment, but it also indicates a greater interest in athletics.

Complementing increased participation has been Victoria's retention of many championships. Victoria's major teams have gained several championships while her individual athletes have copped the laurels in several meets. In those divisions where the emphasis lies more on participation than rivalry, Vic's teams have not failed to do well while at the same time enjoying the exercise which participation is intended to provide.

The Victoria College Scarlet and Gold football team, after a first game loss to St. Michael's, went on in the finals to blank Irish 28-0. The win gave them an unprecedented fifth straight Mulock Cup Championship.

In Rugger Victoria entered two teams in the league, now in its second season. The Vic I's continued last year's unbeaten record and won the Nankivell cup for the second straight year. The Vic II's also showed well taking second place in their division. Both Vic's soccer teams, while not equalling the record of their rugger counterparts, came up with creditable showings as they gave Vic its best season in many a year.

Victoria's track and field men won both the junior and senior fall track meets. The juniors produced a strong all round performance. The seniors, led by Gerry Brown and Al Brereton, defeated strong opposition to record their win and placed several men on the winning University Track Team. Cam Watson of Vic's captured the University Golf Tournament; Bob Jacob placed first in the Tennis Tournament.

The Lacrosse season saw Victoria try hard but just fail to complete a successful season. Vic entered three teams this year, but the season's end only saw one in the playoffs. The firsts fought their way to the final by defeating U.C. but lost an extremely close duel with a fine St. Michael's team 11-10 in the last game of the three-game series.

Vic's Basketball I's have found it difficult to post many wins this year, but fortunately the intermedical league teams have not found winning quite so difficult. Vic's last showing in Basketball has been in the Minor League where the number of teams has increased and where her colourfully named squads have been winning their fair share of the contests.

In Waterpolo Victoria's teams, although as yet not matching last year's records, are having successful seasons with good chances in reaching the play-offs. In Volleyball and Squash, Victoria entered four and five teams respectively, a sign of the increased general interest at Vic's.

Indoor Track, once again, finds Victoria leading the other faculties by some 50 points. The results of the programme have been most gratifying for Victoria.

The Hockey season saw nine teams entered, four more than last season. The Vic I's continued their domination of the Interfaculty division, leading the league with considerable chance of winning their third straight championship. Three other teams, at the time of writing, were in first place in their divisions.

In view of participation and performance, Victoria College has had an outstanding year in men's athletics. With the great interest and enthusiasm shown at all levels of the interfaculty programme, it could hardly have been otherwise; it is to be hoped that such will remain the case for many years to come.

The Molarmen of 1962 were perhaps the strongest team our faculty has ever produced. The men of 3rd Dents., along with a fine group of rookies, played some inspired football throughout the tough schedule. Before our first game, we were notified that we were to play in the more formidable "A" League instead of the "B" League.

Our first game was lost to the Engineers by a score of 1-0. The second game with Victoria ended in a 13-0 defeat. Then, Dents. defeated a previously unbeaten St. Mike's team 22-17. Star players were Rick Warren, Norm Goldberg, Brad Holmes, Paul Morgan and Bob Fairby. Another game with Vic ended in another loss 35-7, but this was avenged by a 3-0 victory over Senior S.P.S. League play ended with a 20-7 defeat at the hands of St. Mike's.

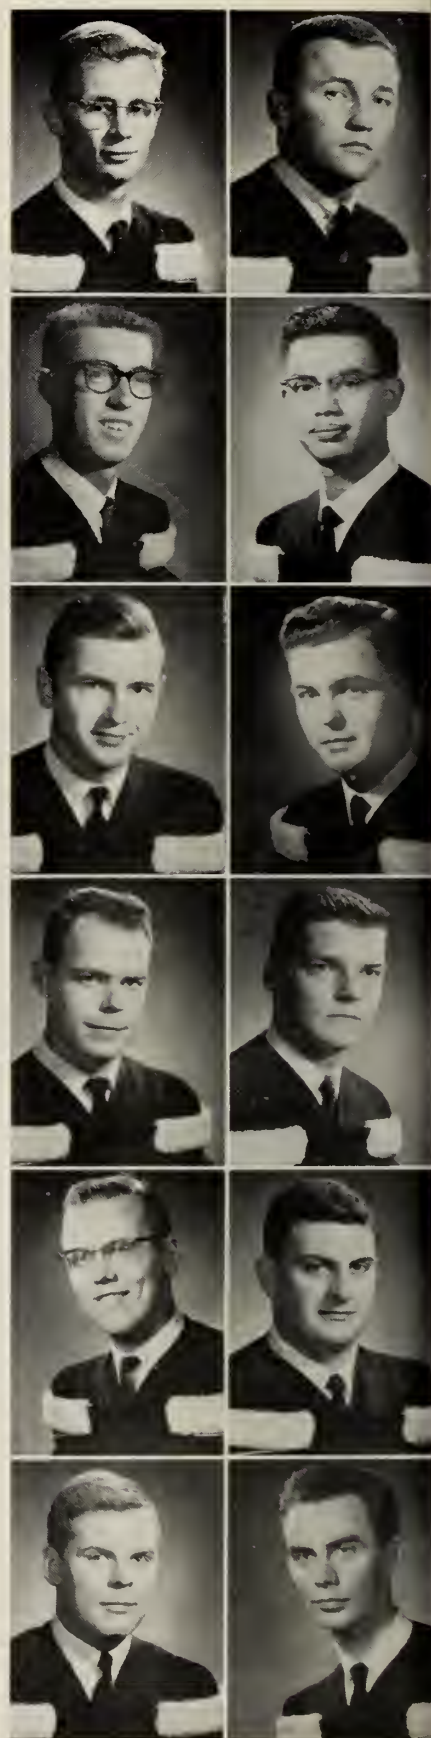

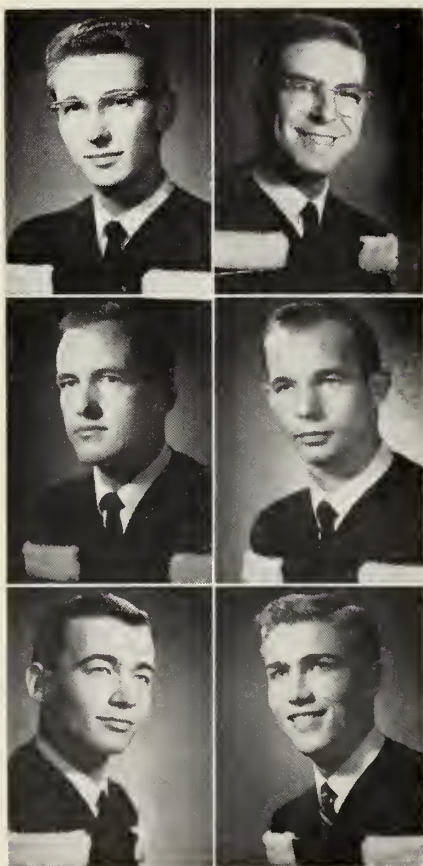

In a sudden death game for the last play-off spot, Dents. were victorious, and met Medicine in the quarter-finals, which they won 18-0, on plays by Ian McIntosh, Rick Warren and Norm Talsky. In the semi-finals, Dents. played the powerful Victoria team, and lost 29-7, although the score was not indicative of the play.

Special thanks are due to coaches Jack Zosky and Hank Levant and, of course, to all the players on the Dents. team. With most players returning, it is hoped that 1963 will bring a Mulock cup for Dentistry.

Mechanical Club activities got off to a fast start with the Club dance held in the Oak Room in early November.

Just before Christmas exams, a lunch-hour study room was set up by the fourth-year mechanicals where they were able to give some handy tips and advice to the first-year boys.

In February, a smoker which developed into a heated but very interesting discussion on the Avro Arrow will be remembered for some time by those who attended.

The Mechanical hockey tournament, late in February, finished off the year in great style for the club.

The addition of a new educational committee and an external affairs representative to the Industrial Club this year led to even higher undergraduate participation than before. Highlights in the year included speeches to high school students on the advantages of Industrial Engineering, tutoring for first year men, a Graduate night where undergraduates learned some of the fields open to them on graduation, and a smoker where the topic "Graduate Studies" was discussed. A very successful Club dinner brought to a close one of the best years in the history of the Industrial Engineering Club.

Electrical Club social activities began early in October with a wiener roast on Ward's Island. The Piccadilly Club was host to our annual Fall Brawl in December and, true to form, was enjoyed by both staff and students. A stag was held this spring after a few years' absence from the Club's agenda. Guest speakers from industry addressed our weekly third and fourth year student meetings, which helped to make this a most rewarding year for the members of the Electrical Club.

346 Under the M. & M. Club's new name / Mining, Metallurgical & Applied Geology / the Club enjoyed a very successful year. In November a dinner held jointly with the Canadian Institute of Mining & Metallurgy / with whom the Club has been associated for 56 years / got the year off to a good start. Later speakers to the Club included Dr. Thompson, the Chief Geologist for Ontario, and Mr. Alan Taylor from Atlas Steels Ltd. The Annual Dinner on March 12 in Malloneys Studio closed out a very rewarding year.

The Engineering Physics Club had one of their best dances ever with their annual "Physical Frolic" held in January at Larry's Hideaway.

To complete a very successful year, a dinner was held for Professor K. B. Jackson, the retiring head of the Engineering Physics Department. Guest speaker was Dr. Porter, one of the first graduates of the present Engineering Physics Course.

The Chemical Club again proved to be the most active Club on the Campus. Extreme interest, coupled with excellent teamwork, enabled the Club to enjoy a highly successful year, beginning with the student-staff get-together in November at the Swiss Chalet. The annual Turtle Trot held in conjunction with the nursing faculty was held at the Legion Hall this year and was an overwhelming success. The Spring dinner was held at the Nu-Nan-King Restaurant and proved a fitting climax to a great year.

The Civil Club this year could be proud of the fact that a large number of the members of the Engineering Society came from Civil Eng. The Club itself held their annual dance at the Oak Room and it was a great success. Closing out the year was the Civil Club Dinner on March 2 and an Automobile Rally late in March.

The academic year 1962-63 took the faculty of forestry to new levels of achievement, both within the faculty and about the campus. The Foresters' Club was guided by a hard-working executive under the presidency of Bob French. This organ in cooperation with the Forestry Athletic Association was responsible for the success of the numerous events of the past year. Particular mention should be made of the Foresters' Club "Smoker" in which junior Foresters had an opportunity to enter into an exchange of ideas with some of Canada's most prominent Forestry men. The topic discussed was "Markets for Canada's Primary Forest Products".

Initiation ceremonies took place in the Caledon Hills and was charmingly co-hosted by P. & O.T. girls. All attending old timers agreed that it was probably one of the liveliest and most successful initiations staged in years.

Unfortunately, forestry was not successful in the annual float parade, and was hard pressed to compete in originality and creativity with skulemen and lawyers.

The annual social events, as always, were most successful. The Woodchoppers' Ball was held in the Old Mill. The Forestry Athletic Association Banquet was held at the Tam O'Shanter Country Club.

The introduction of the graduating class to The Ontario Professional Foresters' Association was held in the King Edward Hotel and was highlighted by the presentation of the professional rings by Dean J. W. B. Sisam to the graduating class members.

The "Green Men" this year proved again that they were Campus "Elite" not only by displaying plenty of heart, but also by giving plenty of blood and this fall, as in other years, Foresters topped the Campus (in percentage participation) in the Red Cross Blood Drive. Most Foresters will deplore the imminent closing of the fabled "Battalion Club", and with the exodus of the class 6T3 to other hunting grounds the club will also lose a great number of its most colourful members. In interfaculty competition at Dorset Spring Camp, class 6T3's physical dominance as well as bushmanship were only challenged by the class 6T5. However, the latter class, despite its advantage of possessing a pretty female cheerleader, could not break 6T3's hegemony.

The Foresters' Club year-book "The Annual Ring" again proved that it is one of the finest publications of its kind on the campus.

When looking back on last year's achievements on the campus one can only hope that Foresters will continue to create such a distinct identity for themselves.

In intramural athletics the faculty heroically struggled to final and semi-final positions in most athletic endeavours.

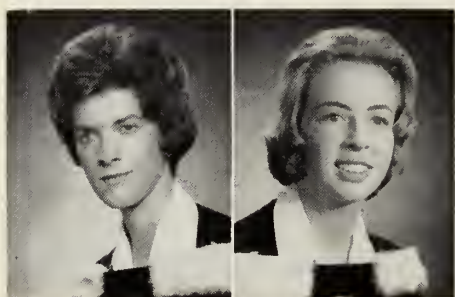

The football games were a true epic of courage. As always the faculty lacked strength in numbers; however, this problem was greatly enlarged by the loss of 6 players because of serious gridiron injuries.

The soccer team placed second, the waterpolo and basketball teams came in first in their divisions and the hockey team won second place in the intramural finals. All these successes added up to this year's award of the Reed Trophy.

In university curling the Forestry team represented the university at the Intercollegiate Championships held at Waterloo, placing second in the double knockout competition. The faculty upheld its reputation of woodsmanship by dominating the log-sawing event at the Winter Carnival, with the assistance of two P. & O.T. girls.

Medical Student's Subway Closing

University of Toronto medical student David Posen, decked out in tails and a top hat, "officially" closed the Queen's Park subway station with a yellow ribbon on the grounds that there were no sanitary conveniences supplied. The sixty students supporting this lark attended the ceremony toting signs protesting the lack of washrooms and publicizing Daffydil — the annual revue staged by the medical faculty in December.

The Undergraduate Association had a successful programme this year. Once the excitement of finally being in our "new home" had subsided we got down to business. Having an office of our own was a great help in coordinating our work. The Freshman Initiations, with the Dance in the Rehearsal Hall and their Variety Show at Lambert Lodge went very well. Although the Fall Dance was not overly crowded, those that attended had a "tres bien" time in our French Cafe decor. The Music At-Home moved to a new location at the Rosedale Golf and Country Club and everyone was unanimous in agreeing that it was the most successful yet. At the time of this writing Dr. Johnston's excellent charts are to be mounted in glass cases, provided by the Undergrad. These charts should prove to be very interesting and educational. Last but not least — don't give up folks, we're still hoping for that Coffee Machine!

The Toronto Student Nurses Association was founded several decades ago under the guidance of Miss Nielman of the University of Toronto School of Nursing, and in connection with the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario. Unlike eight other provinces in Canada, Ontario does not have a student nurses' association but this will come in the near future to be followed by a federation for all Canada.

Throughout the year at the monthly meetings — and in between — six representatives from each school, elected for four years, plan for and interest their classes in many activities based on the three objectives.

- 1) to promote the best interests of the Student Nurses of Toronto, to broaden their horizons, and to foster unity among them.
- 2) to provide opportunities for fellowship in recreation and education.
- 3) to develop an attitude towards professional responsibility that will lead, upon graduation, to the acceptance and participation in a professional organization and the Alumnae Association.

An attempt has been made to get business passed by the executive before the meetings so that more time is left to a programme and coffee hour. The hostess school for the evening plans the programme and this has proved to be anything from a Bingo to a speaker on the Children's Aid Society to a pianist.

The year began with a first year student nurse "tea" — a singsong around a piano. A "drag or stag" dance next and a formal at Casa Loma before Christmas. Basketball and volleyball tournaments were found very popular. The spring programme includes a night of skits, presented by the eleven first-year classes (our degree II) the raising of a $500-bursary at a bridge and elections based on a slate submitted by a representative Nomination Committee.

This year the School of Nursing Drama Club suffered a little setback — ah well! that nursing. Membership in the club dropped from last year although those who did participate put all their efforts into making our programme a success.

A small skit was produced at the annual Christmas Party under the capable direction of two girls in the post-basic courses. The Drama Club this year also sponsored a theatre night at the Crest Theatre which was enjoyed greatly.

Our major effort of the year was the production of a three-act play — "The Three-Fold Path" by Elizabeth Rye with an all female cast. It was held at the Women's Union Theatre on January 24 and 25. The play centres around three main characters, each striving for one of love, peace, or power. The cast included Ruth Amiel, Deirdre Balkwill, Jan Nauss, Darlene McCuaig, Cheryl Hearne, Carolyn Back, Rowena Jarman, Penny Ann Stride, Hanna Davies, Carol Quinn, Barbara Sexton, Donna Shields, and was directed by Jan Steen. All club members plus others who were interested in drama participated in the production of the play. As many of the girls had never acted before it gave them the first taste of the work, the fun, the irritation, the hectic rush, the thrills of the stage. All in all it proved a fascinating and novel experience for most of the kids — and was it a ball! The Drama Club members are now looking forward to participating in the Canadian Inter-Varsity Drama Festival. This year's executive was:

Darlene McCuaig / President
Carolyn Back / Vice-President/
Noryl Pragnell / Secretary-Treasurer/
Debbi Fraser / U.T.D.C. Rep.
Laurel Godwin / Programme

Nursing
Yearbook Committee
Undergraduate Association

The 1962-3 session of the Undergraduate Association of the School of Nursing has not been characterized by anything too new, but all of our usual activities have been well received and very well attended. This increased interest and support is largely due to the work of the energetic and enthusiastic committee members who have put much time and effort into their individual projects, and, it is hoped that each one realized the rewards accruing from her efforts. We acknowledge, however, that the complete success of many of our projects would not have been possible without the support and interest shown by the members of our staff. The year began with a combined welcome tea for both our new director, Miss Helen Carpenter, and our new "freshies", the class of 6T6. It will end with a mass meeting honouring the retirement of a senior member of staff, Miss Mary Millman. A Commerce and Finance Dance, a School of Nursing Athletic Night, the Varsity Nurse, a Christmas Party, the bulletin "Pulse", the play "Three-Fold Path" by Elizabeth Rye, our annual formal at the Regency Towers Hotel — these projects and events plus many others fill the memories of our students.

The class of 6T3 anticipates one other memorable event, the experience of which is primarily due to the efforts of each individual herself — graduation. This experience will surely linger long in our memories. It is hoped that when these pages are browsed through in the years to come, that not only the events, but the people, the friendships begun at university will also be remembered and cherished and not forgotten.

The Central Executive of the Undergraduate Pharmaceutical Society, representing the four hundred and fourteen students in Pharmacy, acted this year to obtain a greater co-operation and interest among the students in Faculty functions, in preparation for the Faculty's "On Campus" move in the fall. The Society emphasized participation in such events as the float parade, in which their effort earned them a third, and stressed a greater awareness of the increasing importance of Pharmacy.

The Boys' Athletic Programme was stepped up to enable greater participation and provide keener competition on campus.

The Second Annual Freshman Orientation Banquet was held in the Great Hall of Hart House to acquaint the freshmen with the University in general and the Faculty of Pharmacy in particular.

The U.P.S. also sponsored the Second Annual Pharmacy Show in which students from all years displayed their talent in a one-hour Revue.

One particularly noteworthy event was the "Laying of the Cornerstone" of the new Faculty of Pharmacy building by Dr. Matthe Dymond, Minister of Health for the Province of Ontario.

The outstanding achievement of the year was the completing and passing of the Society's New Constitution. Attempts in past years have been made to revise the constitution and this year, thanks to the many hours spent by the social director, Barbara Binder, and committee, these attempts were rewarded.

The Society extends its sincere thanks to Dr. Baxter, who acted as Staff Advisor enabling the co-operation of students and staff for a very successful year.

The Skript
Pharmakon

The Skript is the bi-monthly newspaper published by the undergraduates of the Faculty. This year a number of controversies were discussed through the paper concerning the professional attitude of Pharmacy students and of Pharmacists themselves. The Skript was used to good advantage for advertising class and faculty functions, and this advertising helped raise attendance at most functions.

The Pharmakon is the official yearbook of the Undergraduate Pharmaceutical Society. Since its inception in 1954, the quality and design of the book have improved markedly, an improvement which has been accompanied by a steadily increasing enthusiasm on the part of the students.

The purpose of the Pharmakon is threefold: to record the year's events on the undergraduate level, to promote student interest in extracurricular affairs of the faculty and university, and to advance the cause of ethical pharmacy in the minds of the students.

This year, for the first time, the students in Pharmacy at U. of T. participated in an exchange with the Pharmacy School at the University of Buffalo. The Buffalonians arrived on Friday, January 25th. After a reception at the faculty building, the Toronto students took their buddies out for dinner, after which everyone went to the Pharmacy Show and Dance, followed by a "swinging" party, a fraternity party on Bedford. On Saturday there was a tour of the new Pharmacy building, lunch at the J.C.R., discussions and a banquet at Hart House, then a "Ball and Chain" party at the home of one of the U. of T. students. At two o'clock Sunday morning there was a sad leave-taking brightened by the prospect of the return trip to Buffalo on March the first.

Upon arriving at Buffalo our students were treated to a reception of coffee and donuts, after which we all went to our buddies' homes to freshen up. After a dinner at the Faculty Club there was a tour of the Pharmacy Open House, followed by a party at the Lamm Post. Saturday's schedule was extremely full, including a tour of the histology building, the Atomic Reactor of Buffalo, and the Roswell Park Cancer Institute. Lunch was served in the Rathskellar of the Student Union. That night after a lovely dinner at the Student Union dining hall, there was another party at the "Isle View". This party was probably the best of all the four parties, perhaps because it was the last time we would be seeing each other. Our bus left Buffalo at 2.15 Sunday morning and we arrived in Toronto about 5.30 in the morning.

Both Dr. Walker and Dr. Baxter, our chaperones in Buffalo and Toronto respectively, certainly helped to make the exchange the success that it was.

Since this exchange proved to be all that it was expected, both socially and educationally, there is little doubt that this international exchange will be carried out annually.

Pharmacy
Womens' Athletic Report
Volleyball
Basketball

The early writing of this article will necessitate a great deal of speculation about Women's Athletics in Pharmacy.

Unfortunately we were unable to enter a softball team in the league this year due to lack of support and the distance of the Pharmacy Building from the main campus. We hope these problems will be solved when Pharmacy moves to the campus next year.

There was active participation in basketball this season and the team did very well. We are hoping for a good hockey team this year, in which skating ability will match enthusiasm.

Although Pharmacy is a small faculty, it is well represented in athletic activities on campus. Pharmacy supports teams in Football, Soccer, Lacrosse, Hockey, Basketball, Volleyball, Squash, Water Polo and Curling. This year the Football team finished in third place in Division II and went on to play St. Mike's in the playoffs giving a very good account of themselves, although they lost 13-0. In Lacrosse, late in the schedule, the team still had to taste defeat with a record of 5 wins and no losses.

Pharmacy is expected to have a very strong contender in the Interfaculty League in Basketball and two very good teams in the Intermediate League in Hockey. They are also well represented in Volleyball with three teams, one of which was undefeated and another which had lost only one game at the time this report was written.

In addition to these activities, Pharmacy is very proud to have one of the best athletes of the University of Toronto in her faculty — Bill Crothers. Bill is attending the British Empire Games in Perth, Australia, this year, and feeling is high that he will do a wonderful job there, as he has done on so many occasions.

Hopes are high that Pharmacy's move onto the campus next fall will result in stronger teams and more great athletes.

Bill Crothers is in the graduating year of the Bachelor of Science course in Pharmacy. For the past two years he has lived at his fraternity, Kappa Sigma, at 370 Huron St., but his home town is Agincourt, Ontario. Besides being a top athlete, he has obtained a superior scholastic standing with an "A" grade in first year and a "B" average in second and third year.

His scholastic awards have been: entering first year, the Tamblyn Scholarship, an Ontario Scholarship, and the Agincourt Collegiate Scholarship. He has also won the University of Toronto Alumni War Memorial Scholarship, the Undergraduate Pharmaceutical Society Award, and the Dean's Stick. In the administrative field he was class president in the second and third year and in the fourth year was Fraternity Grand Master.

Of course Bill has been very active in track, both intercollegiate and international. He has also been active in intramural sports, hockey, basketball, soccer, volleyball at different times.

It was another highly successful season for the Rugger Blues. An enthusiastic turnout in the first week of practice had raised hopes for another championship. Ten members from the 1961 Turner Trophy winners were back, and an exceptional group of newcomers to the game vied for remaining positions. Veterans Andy Bains, Bill Nelems, Bob Turner, Doug Bosomworth and Bill Stow would give Varsity the most experienced forward pack in the league. The newcomers included Murray Brooker, Richard Hayman, Terry Picton, Larry Johnson, and Ian Sinclair, of whom Sinclair was the valuable acquisition. The year's record testifies that coach Dick Gaeter was able to mold a well-balanced team from this mixture of veteran skill and rookie desire.

Exhibition victories against Michigan 13-9 and Manhattan 33-0 proved that Varsity had a potent backfield, and it seemed that if the forwards could control a fair share of the scrums, the Blues would be a tough match in league competition.

Such speculation was not idle. After a rather shaky 3-3 tie against Queen's in the league opener, the Blue and White side went undefeated in league play, downing McGill 9-0, O.A.C. 21-0, McGill 14-3, Queen's 5-0 and O.A.C. 6-0 in that order. It was the forward play, rather than the backs, however, which accounted for such a record. The backs were solid defensively, but failed to regain their earlier form. Captain Paul Wilson, the league's highest scorer in the previous two seasons continued his productive efforts to retain the honour, and Ian Sinclair was effective on the wing, but the predicted scoring power was lacking.

The proudest achievements of the season were against Irish Canadians and Toronto Nomads in the night games at the Stadium. The Blues not only defeated Irish 8-0 on a muddy field suited to the heavier opponents, they also drew 6-6 with Nomads, the team which eventually won the Carling Cup for senior competition in Ontario. These were the best two games, and the results are feathers in Varsity's cap.

Graduation will take Bob Turner, Murray Brooker and Doug Bosomworth from the team, but recent trends indicate that there will be worthy replacements moving up from the strongest second team in the club's history.

The Club wishes to express its regret that Andy Bains, ex-Captain and a veteran of nine years with the Blues, has played his last season.

Intermediate Rugger

Sparked by the coaching of Neville Nankiville this year's Intermediate Team won 7 out of the 10 games played. In the semi-official league games victories were registered over Queen's, 9-13 and 11-8; Waterloo 11-0, and Western 5-3. Losses were sustained against both Western 5-3 and Waterloo 15-3, giving the team a 39-34 total scoring record for a won 4 lost 2 record. Not only did the team improve immensely in just one year, but it added a good deal of depth to the Varsity squad. A number of Intermediates played at least one game with the Blues. Captain Andy Davidson was unfortunately injured early in the season and missed most of the season. In the 4 exhibition games played the Intermediates were completely outclassed by the Old Boys 30-5, but gained a moral boost in their 30-0 victory over Ryerson, and their 20-8 whitewash of the Toronto Scottish II. The final exhibition game was a cliffhanger 5-3 victory over the Chartered Accountants. Many thanks to Neville Nankiville, Dick Gaeter, and Blues Captain Paul Wilson for their constant help and encouragement in making the 1962 season such a success.

The Soccerites opened and closed their 1962 season with a flourish. At the first game, well attended by students and the Toronto press, long-time fan Charlie Oster was honoured with a commemorative trophy "for his encouragement and unfailing confidence in the U. of T. Soccer Blues over the years". At this same game the two history-making female managers were introduced: Mary Bertolin and Kathleen O'Sullivan.

In the last game of the season Blues spectacularly copped the Blackwood Trophy /the intercollegiate soccer cup/ by scoring three goals in the last fifteen minutes of play to defeat OAVC 3-2. Displaying soccer at its best, Bobby Lewis drove in the championship goal with only two minutes remaining in the game.

Varsity's overall record in the Western conference stands at six wins and two losses with a score of 24-13. They defeated OAVC and McMaster in both the home and away games, and split with Ryerson and Western. In the Eastern loop Toronto tied McGill 1-1 in Montreal and then dropped the return match 1-0. Thus McGill retained the two-game, total-goal trophy, the Toronto and District Association Cup, for the third year in a row.

This year's squad was composed of seven rookies and ten veterans who were formed into a championship team under the direction of player coach Stu Bell and Captain Lou Mayhanovich, successfully managed and advertised by Mary and Kathleen.

Blues' greatest strength lay in their defense led by veterans Aldo DeTullio and Nick Walker. Highest scorers were Keith Murph with eight goals and Jeff Mahon with six. Blues showed their best form again in McMaster in Hamilton. The forward line, the defense and the halfbacks gave a championship display as they fired five goals while only allowing one by McMaster.

Since most players expect to be back next year, the soccer Blues are looking forward to an even more successful season.

Gymnastics

Gymnastics has been, for some time now, one of Varsity's strongholds in athletics. This year proved to be no exception as the Gym Blues won all but one of their meets and muscled their way to the Eastern Canada Intercollegiate Championship. The team this year consisted of the old timers /Les Filotas III SPS, Barry Brooker OCE, John Whitelaw II VIC, Peter Karm II PHE, and Bob Smagala II PHE/ as well as two newcomers /Scott Griffiths ISPS and Digby Sale IPHE/. Frank Gromeck did a very fine job of coaching and saved many a gymnast from being pitched into space off the high bar, or getting hopelessly tangled up in the rings.

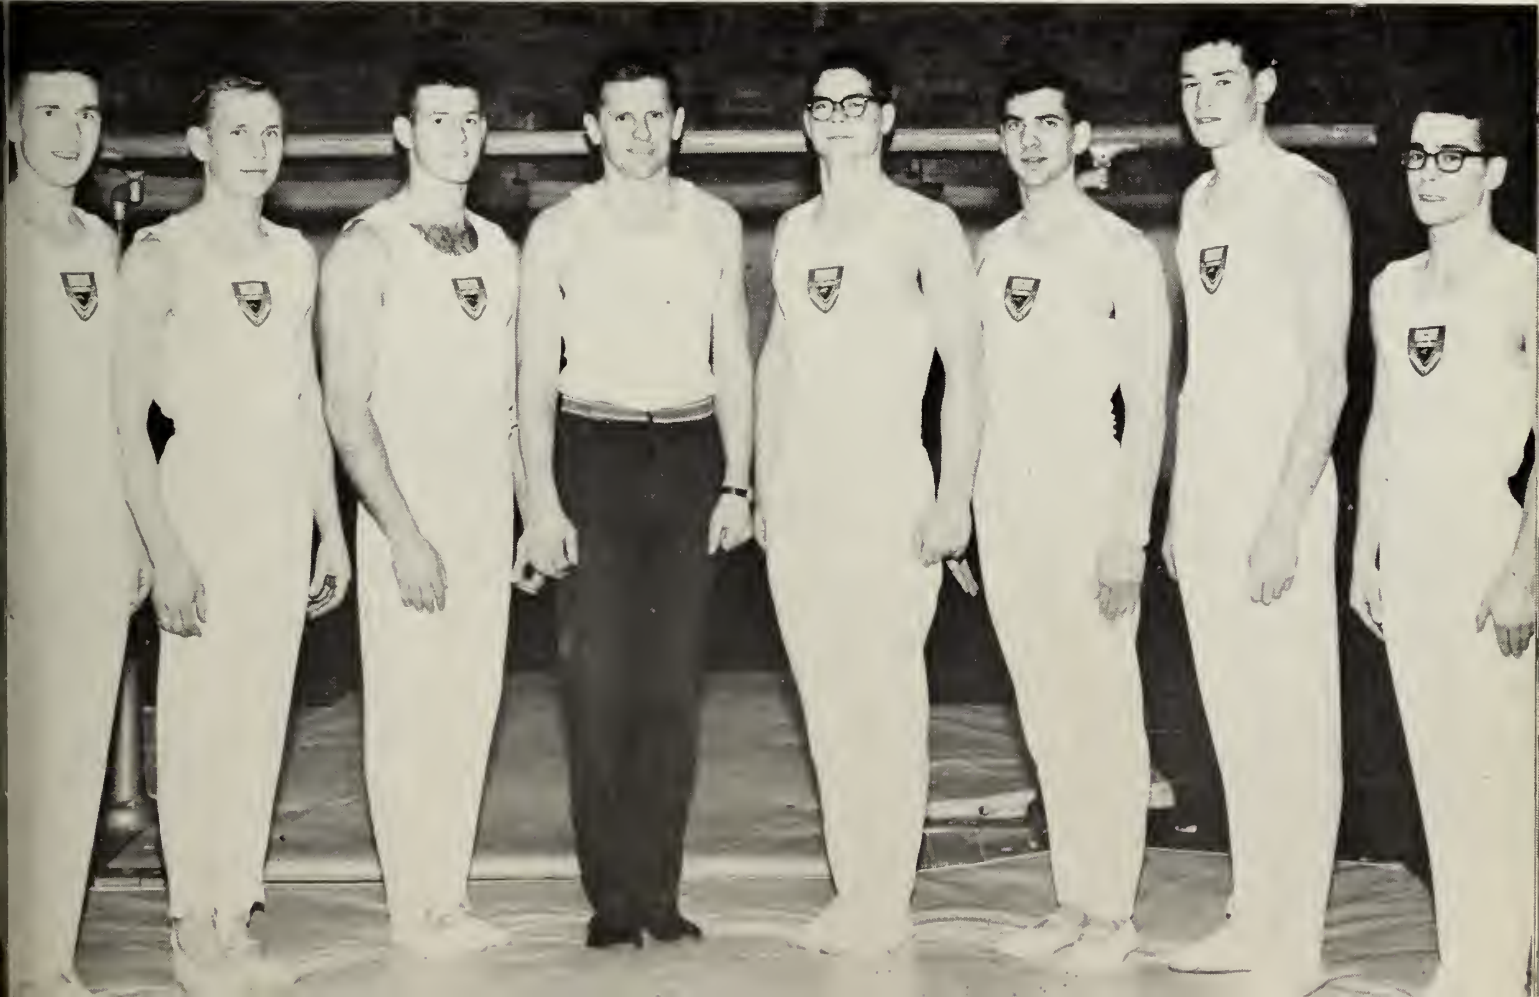

In December we saw the year's toughest competition as we pitted our resources against a crack Syracuse team. Les Filotas, John Whitelaw and Barry Brooker put up a very good fight, but the U.S. A.A.U. champions were too powerful and we had to be content with Barry's second-place standing in the overall.

However, after a little more seasoning in January we were ready to meet R.M.C. in the Intercollegiate Championships. Although the team was seriously depleted with Barry in Saskatchewan at the Pan-American games trials, John Whitelaw came through to win free calisthenics and parallels as well as the overall. Pete Karm did a beautiful routine on the high bar, while Digby Sale surprised everyone by walking away with the still rings championship.

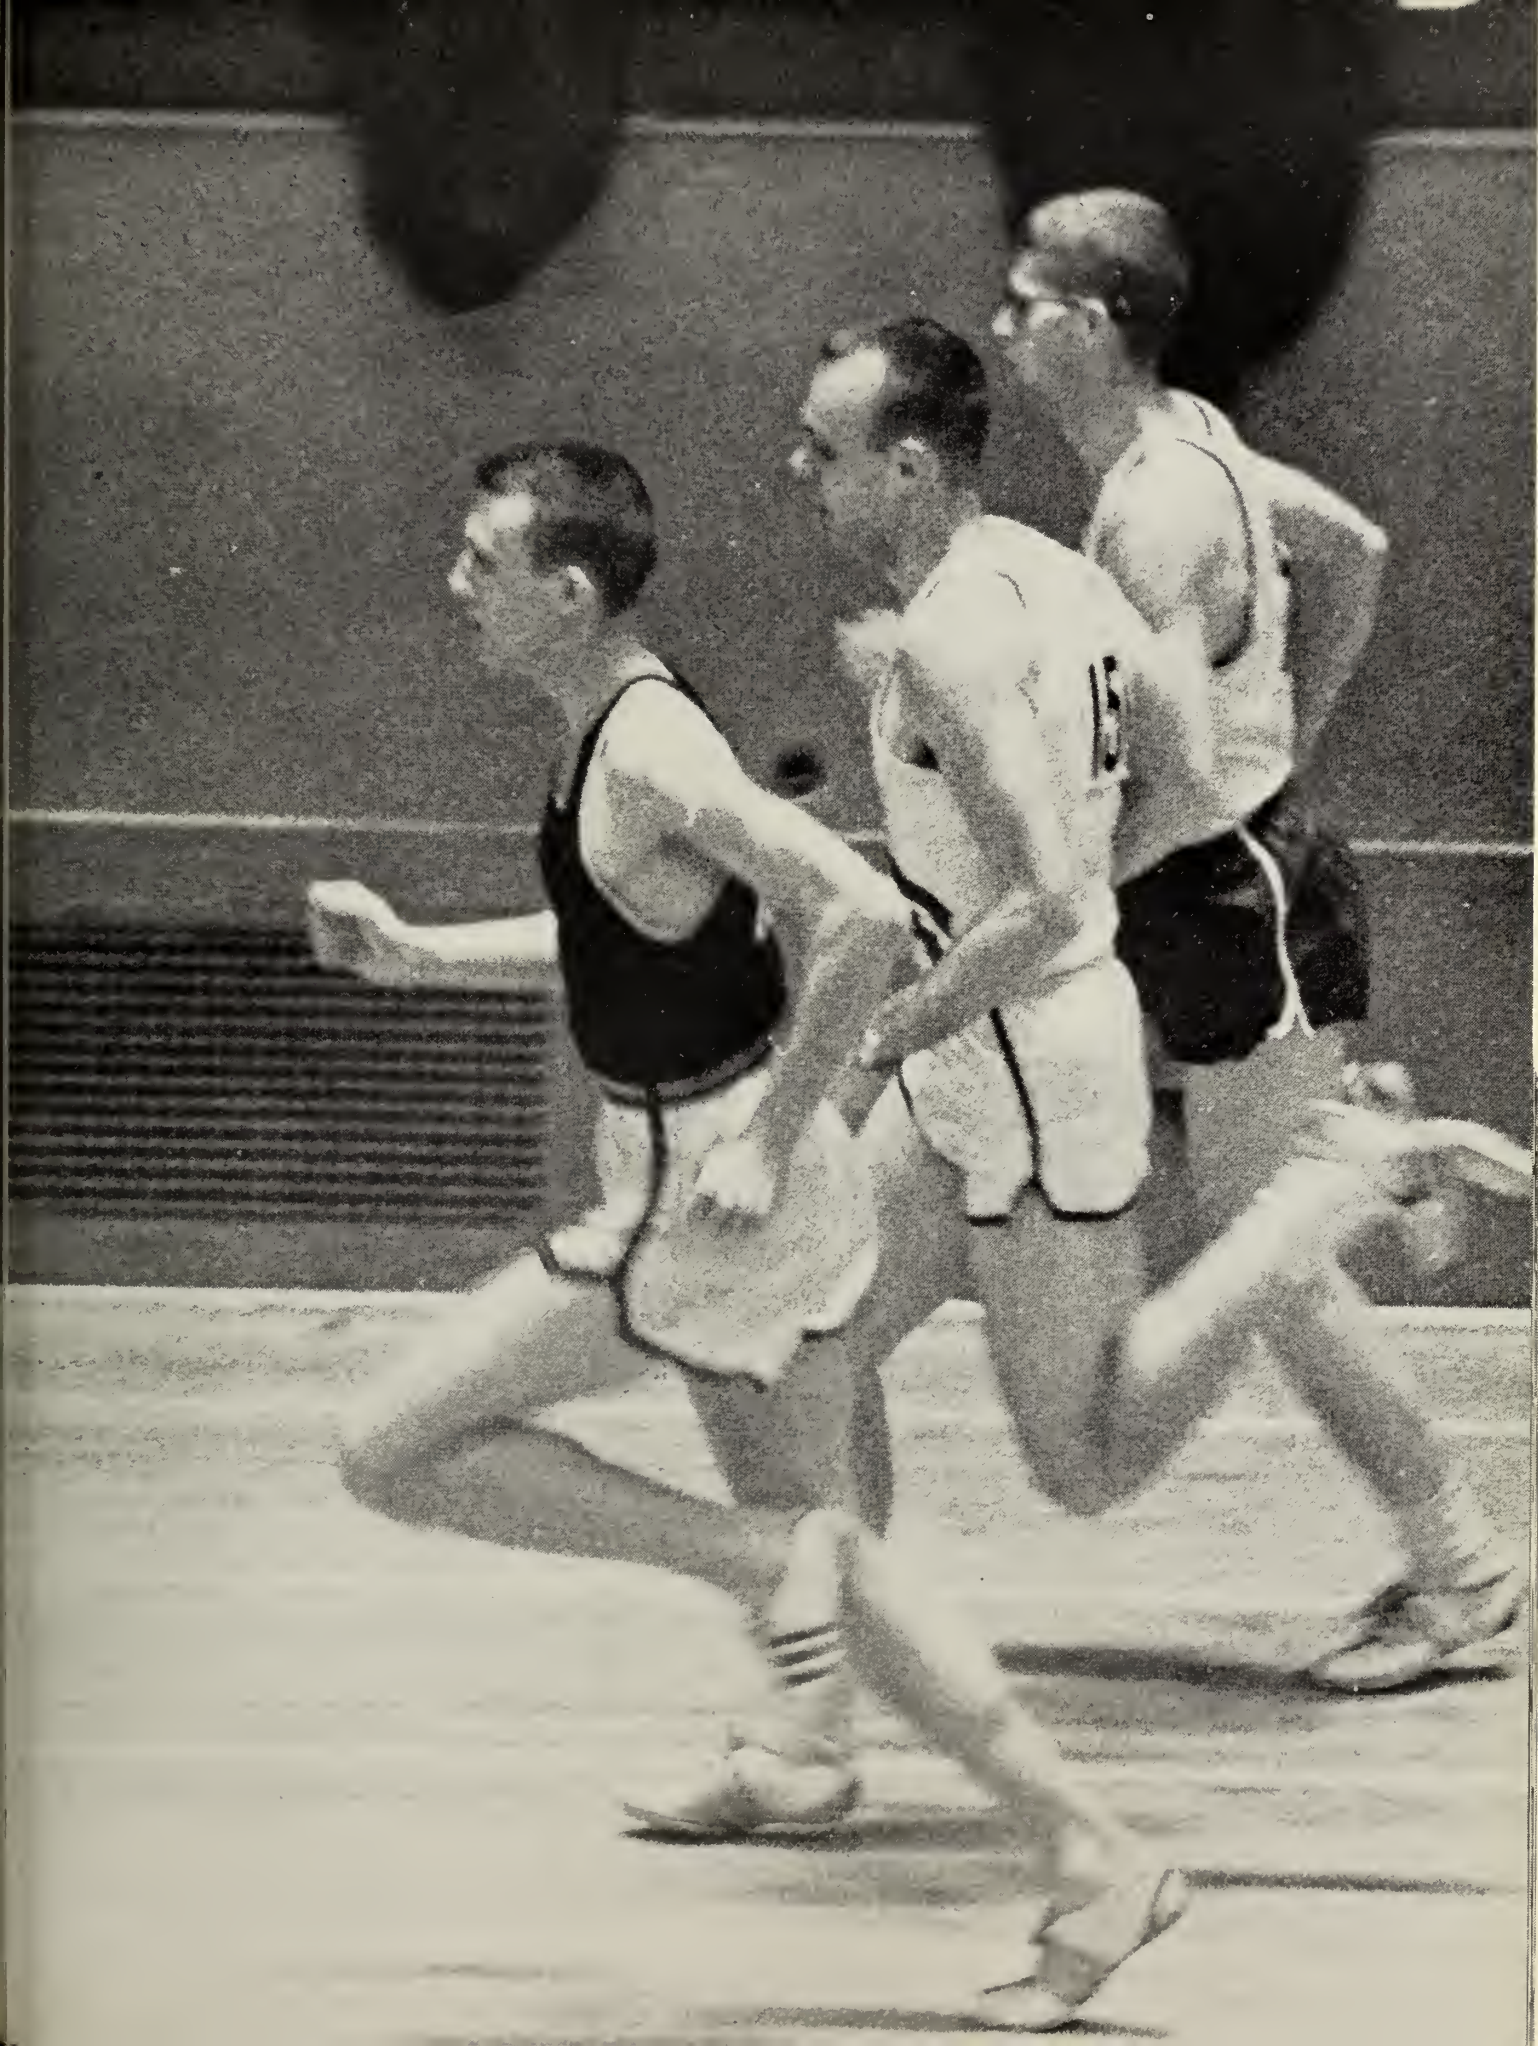

In February we had our final competition — a dual meet with a strong Eastern Michigan team. Here Barry Brooker managed with extremely well-balanced routines to win every event but he was closely backed up by Bob in free calisthenics and long horse, John on parallels, Peter on the high bar, and Digby on the rings. In short, we had a pretty good day.

Next year with all but one of the team back again we can look forward to another good year.

In one of the greatest performances in university athletics of this or any year, University of Toronto athletes smashed five records and placed in the top three in 15 to 17 events as they literally ran away with the Tait MacKenzie Trophy, emblematic of the Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association Track and Field Championship. Varsity won ten of the 17 events in all.

Bruce Kidd led Toronto's assault on records as he broke two, while Bill Crothers, Gerry Brown and the 440-yard relay team each smashed one.

Bruce Kidd broke the two records he set the previous year when he ran the mile in 4:11.7 and the three mile in 13:47.3. Bruce distinguished himself in November when he won the six mile in the British Empire and Commonwealth Games at Perth, Australia.

Bill Crothers, defending Intercollegiate 440- and 880-yard champion, repeated again this year and broke his former record in the 880 in the process with a time of 1:52.1.

One of the oldest records, the 100-yard dash, set in 1951, was broken by Jerry Brown with a time of 9.8 seconds, erasing the old mark of 9.9. In the second last event of the day Brown teamed with Paul Gaudet, Al Brereton and Mike Baird to smash the record of 43.9 Toronto set last year in the 440-yard relay winning in 43.8.

Toronto's magnificent performance was unquestionably a great team effort shown by the following placings.

Bill Crothers, 1st 440, 1st 880 and on winning mile relay team; Bruce Kidd, 1st Mile, 1st 3-Mile and on mile relay team; Jorma Salovaara, 1st Discus, 2nd Shotput; Rod Chintu, 2nd 440, 2nd 880, and a member of the mile relay team; Dave Cook, 1st 110-yard hurdles; Gerry Brown, 1st 100 yards and on the 440-yard relay team; Al Brereton, 1st 220 yards and on the sprint relay team; Juri Sutt, 2nd Broadjump; Craig Cook, 2nd Highjump; Mike Baird, 2nd 220 yards and on the sprint relay team; Peter Auksi, 2nd Discus; Doug Macdougall, 3rd Mile and on the mile relay; Peter Carmichael, 3rd Highjump; Bill Heikkila, 3rd Javelin; and Paul Gaudet was third in the 100-yard dash as well as a member of the 440-yard relay. It is a pity we were only allowed to enter two men per event because we could have entered still more competitors in certain events that would have been sure of scoring.

The work of coaches Fred Foot and Hal Brown, week after week, has brought the sport of Track and Field to a new height at Toronto in the past few seasons and the sport should continue to grow with the fine athletes entering university.

Boxing

Coach Tony Canzano's boxing team can look back at another successful year. The team has won the Intercollegiate Championship trophy, the Tom Gibson Cup, for the 18th time since 1927.

The win is even more impressive if one considers that six members of the team were competing for the first time. Three of the rookies, Mike Rapsey /130 lbs./, Ron McGregor /155 lbs./, and Norm Goldberg /165 lbs./ won all their bouts. Allan Anderson /135 lbs./ successfully defended his championship and Louis Simon — veteran member of the team — won the heavyweight title.

Bob Reed /145 lbs./, Tom Mann /150 lbs./, and John Webster /140 lbs./ came home with silver medals. Fred Van Der Vliet /175 lbs./ and Ron Brooks /160 lbs./ lost by decision.

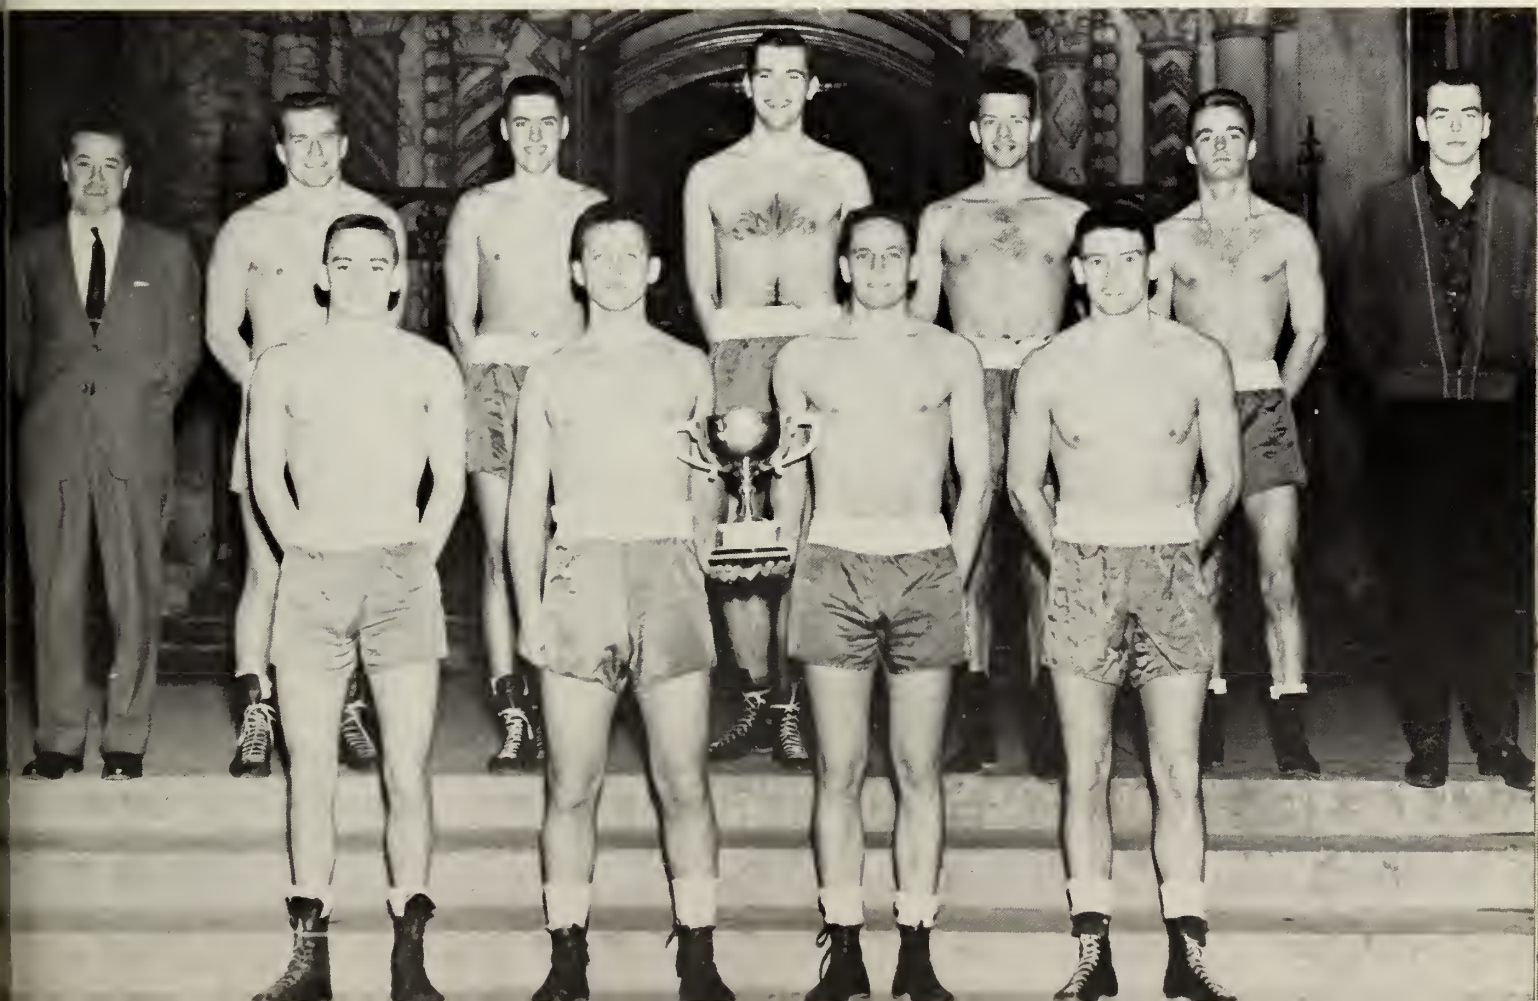

Since only two boxers are graduating this year, Mr. Canzano is confident that the team will defend their title before a Toronto crowd next year.

Swim Team

The Varsity Swim team was successfully coached again this year by Larry Freeman. They retained the Dougall Trophy defeating Western and McGill with scores of: Toronto 77, Western 57 and McGill 34. Team members were: Marv Chapelle, Wally Unger, Peter Richardson, Harvey Armstrong, Graeme Barber, John Ridpath, Bill Pigott, Alex Chiu, Don Wheeler, Jim Leitch, John Weekes and Tom Verth. Along with our divers: George Huovinen and Bob Smagala.

Tom Verth is registered in Dentistry, having graduated from Indiana University and was an Olympic swimmer before coming to us. The combination of our veterans plus newcomers made a strong contingent in the Championships.

A triangular meet was held with McGill and Bowling Green, in the new pool in the Women's Athletic Building. The opportunity of using the Women's pool made this a most successful meet. The score Toronto 67, Bowling Green 63 and McGill 35. Two meets were won against Western 45-39 and 67-27; defeated Wayne State 51-44 and lost to Detroit Tech. 50-45. In a meet at Colgate the Varsity team suffered a 61-34 defeat — but as only eight men made the trip, it is not surprising that the score was so one-sided.

The 1962-63 season for the U. of T. wrestling team opened with new freshness and hope for a successful season. One of the major sources of vitality for this year's team was supplied by the new coach, a former U. of T. graduate, Rod Carrow, as the successor of the veteran Jack Amos.

The opening meets against Rochester, U. of Buffalo, and Orchard Park served to point out early the weaknesses in the team as Varsity went down to defeat at the hands of the more experienced American clubs. A default in the heavyweight class prevented Toronto from winning a closely contested meet at O.A.C. in early January. One month and one loss later /to Hazel Park in Detroit/ our team was in preparation for its final hours. 'Big' Bill Watters completed the squad in the heavyweight division as Varsity rolled over Western and O.A.C. in the last two meets before the championships.

Next stop was the Intercollegiate finals at McGill. When the dust had cleared and the clocks had stopped, we could only say "we wuz robbed". A brilliantly planned last-minute shift in weight classes by O.A.C. sent former O.A.C. coach Jans Jansen against unsuspecting Mickey Houston, who fought extremely well, but was no match for the former Olympic wrestler. Handsome Don Merker came through in fine style to retain superiority in the 177-lb. class, while John Stephenson earned his bronze by successfully dominating the 130-lb. class for 3 consecutive years. Both Hugh Cooke and Clive Good earned silver medals in the finals as well. Great things are expected in the future from this year's rookies, Larry Angus and Bob Griffis who will help form the backbone of next year's team. A total spread of only 18 points between the top 3 teams, O.A.C., Toronto and Western respectively, in the finals indicates a definite increase in the calibre of Intercollegiate wrestling. Special mention must go to "Big" Ed Keystone, this year's team manager, as he made a valiant attempt to keep graft at an all-time low.

The Varsity Blues received a surprising shock when they defeated Montreal 41-5, in a two-game total-point series, to retain the Hershorn Cup.

What surprised Toronto was the frequency and ease with which they scored.

In the first game playing to a home crowd at Hart House the Blues averaged a goal a minute. In this one-sided effort the forward wall made up of the fastest swimmers in Canada, Tom Verth, Graeme Barber, Marv Chapelle and Walter Unger, scored a total of 20 goals in the 33-2 win. But perhaps overlooked by the inexperienced eye was the smoothness and efficiency that Mike McLaughlin added to the display. He continually, from his centre position, guided the attack with short accurate passes to the darting forwards to set up the scores.

In Montreal the Redmen tightened their defence and fought a more offensive contest to hold the score to 9-2 for Varsity.

For the Blues, goalie John Harper played the best game. On many occasions he foiled sure Montreal scores. He was helped by defence-man Larry Bell who checked closely, often-times finding himself covering two or three McGill forwards.

Mike McLaughlin, relieved of his centre duties by George Watkins, was able to roam and shoot more often. He scored 4 goals for Varsity.

Besides these two league games which ended the Blues' season, they also played several exhibition contests; Hamilton, Toronto Hungarians and Central Y were the main contests. Don Wheeler, Pete Richardson and Bill Pigott, all top Varsity swimmers, certainly added to the winning of the Hershorn Cup.

Squash

This season has been an extremely active one for U. of T. squash players. Two teams competed in the Toronto and District City League in "A" and "B" divisions, and although the losses outnumbered the wins, the experience gained from keen competition was valuable to all members. Changes on the team ladder were frequent throughout the season before the top five positions were finally decided.

The annual O.Q.A.A. Intercollegiate Championships were held this year in Montreal on the home courts of McGill. Playing for Varsity were Morley Smith, Leighton McCarthy, Doug Tilley, Bruce Robb and Frank Buck. The excitement of last year was not evident this time as McGill swept to ten straight victories to retain the title. Toronto, however, won all its matches against the winless Western team. The best Toronto efforts came from McCarthy and Robb, the latter coming within two points of victory against McGill.

Undoubtedly next year's team will feel the loss of Morley Smith who has played outstanding squash for the past six years. The team would like to thank Ralph Rimmer for his superb coaching and endless encouragement and look forward to a winning season next year.

Curling

Once again the curling club has enjoyed a successful season. Ninety-six fellows curled a 15-game schedule at Avonlea.

This year for the first time curling was established under the Intramural system with much success.

Another first was the club obtaining membership in the O.C.A.

The University this year entered only one bonspiel, that being at Kitchener. Representing the University were Bob French, lead; Jim Stronach, 2nd; Terry Dodds, 3rd; and Jim Creighton, skip. A double knockout competition was held in which the Toronto team went right to the last stone before being defeated by Waterloo.

Basketball

The 1962-63 Varsity Blues played a 19-game schedule. Included were games with New York University, St. Peter's, Iona, Buffalo, Buffalo State, Detroit Tech., and Lawrence Tech. In Intercollegiate play the Blues ended up with a 7-5 record.

The highlights of the season were wins over Buffalo State 90-89 and Detroit Tech. 83-69. The final game against undefeated Assumption was a classic with the Blues finally losing 78-74.

The Blues who posted double wins over Queens, McGill and Waterloo and a single win over McMaster, were paced by the scoring of Dave West. West also won the Dr. W. A. Potter trophy and was selected to the All-Star team as guard. Dave averaged over 20 points per game to become the highest scorer in Blue history.

Only Jim Maguire will graduate leaving a nucleus of experienced players for the 1963-64 season.

This year, perhaps, indoor track at University of Toronto became synonymous with Bruce Kidd and Bill Crothers. Both enjoyed a tremendously successful season.

Bill never lost a race over 1,000 yards all year, and came within 4/10ths of a second of tying the world record of 2:06.0 held by Peter Snell, of New Zealand. At the present time, Bill has run more 1,000-yard races under 2:10.0 than any other man. He is the Canadian, U.S. and U.K. champion over the 1,000 as well as the 600 yards in the U.K. Not bad for a winter's work.

Bruce Kidd likewise dominated the longer races of two or three miles in meets from Los Angeles to Boston. Bruce has a similar distinction as Bill in that he has run more two-mile races under 8:45.0 than anyone in the world. His only defeat came at the hands of Jim Beatty, the world record holder, who broke the world two-mile record in the process. To cap off his season successfully, Bruce captured the Canadian Junior Indoor Mile title in a record time of 4:09.7.

Toronto also had a speedy relay team which enjoyed a large measure of success. At the Tely Maple Leaf Games, Nelles Van Loon, John Passmore, Bob Carmichael and Mike Baird won the college mile relay. In Chicago another quartet made up of Rod Chintu, John Passmore, Mike Baird and Bill Crothers ran the Mile in 3:20.7 which is only 1/10th off Canada's National Team's performance at the British Empire Games in the final. In spite of the fine effort where Bill Crothers came up with an excellent time of 47.7 in the anchor leg, the team ended up second to Michigan State who won the other heat.

In Winnipeg Al Brereton, Rod Chintu, John Passmore and Mike Baird ended up second in the medley relay. The relay team also ended their season on a winning note where Al Brereton, Bruce Kidd, John Passmore and Mike Baird combined to win the college mile relay in the time of 3:32.0 at Hamilton.

The 1963 Blues were composed of a mixture of veterans and some promising freshmen. They raised Varsity hopes with an early season 24-1 exhibition victory over the University of Western Ontario Mustangs. However, their lack of experience showed in the opening league game against Queens at Varsity stadium. After holding the strong Queens team in check with a powerful defensive display the Blues fell apart in the last quarter to lose by a 32-13 score.

The team journeyed to Montreal the following weekend and led by the powerful running of fullback Erkki Pukonen, they upset McGill Redmen 19-13. Harold Hall guided the team in excellent fashion at Quarterback and Linebacker Bill Jackson led an alert defensive crew who contributed much to the victory.

The Blues' homecoming game was against Western Mustangs at Varsity Stadium. In spite of a rather muddy field, Varsity earned a 23-14 decision against a much heavier Western squad. Pukonen again did some fine running before leaving the game with an injury which put him out of competition for four weeks.

The next week's game at London the Blues showed a complete reversal of form, losing 29-1 to the Mustangs on cold windswept Little Stadium. The Mustangs led by Brian Conacher and Ed Potomoski disorganized the Blues with a crushing ground attack.

McGill Redmen were the next to meet Toronto at Varsity Stadium. The Blues led by 11-9 at the beginning of the last quarter when Al Brereton caught a pass from Harold Hall. The McGill quarterback Tom Skyeck was in championship form in the last few minutes, throwing two touchdown passes to snatch a 23-11 victory.

Varsity's last league game was at Kingston. It was a muddy, rainy day and the Blues bowed for the second time to the Queens Gaels by a score of 29-0. Despite some fine play by tackle Arnie Carefoote, Linebacker Ranny Parker and End Hugh Cooke, Toronto was no match for the Queens team.

The final game of the season was played in Halifax where Toronto met St. Francis Xavier University in the Annual Athletic Bowl game. Strengthened by the return of two injured stars, Linebacker Jim Rhodes and Fullback Erkki Pukonen, the Blues upset the Maritime Champions by 20-14. Pukonen again featured with his running, scoring two touchdowns. Rhodes and Parker were brilliant on defense.

Ron Near, outstanding end with the Toronto team, won the Copp Trophy and was selected at offensive end on the Canadian Press All-Star team. The Blues hope for the return, next season, of practically all of this year's team. Centre Don Rogers, guard Norm Naumoff, quarterback Bryce Taylor, halfback Gerry Sternberg, fullback Riivo Ilves and end Doug Bucknam were some of the freshmen who gained valuable experience in their first year of competition.

Fencing

For the Varsity Fencers this was a rather difficult year because all members but one graduated from last year's team. The fencing master, Imre Hennyey, was faced with the difficult task of preparing a novice team for senior competition. He succeeded admirably. Although Varsity fencers won only two tournaments, both of them against Royal Military College, Kingston, the records show that they bowed only after long struggles to much more experienced opponents. At the Intercollegiate Tournament at the University of Montreal, Varsity tied McGill with 26 wins behind Montreal with 29 wins. Although Toronto battled to a victory in epee, beating even the much more favoured Montreal team, and won the individual sabre competition, it could not retrieve the heavy losses received in the foil event.

The most outstanding fencers on the team were undoubtedly Helmut Microys, the captain of the team, and Manfred von Nostitz. Their combined efforts account for many of Varsity's wins. Rookie Peter Urban improved greatly over the year. He gave an amazing sabre performance at the Intercollegiate Tournament. In a dramatic finish he beat Aldo Bensadoun of the University of McGill and walked off with the Schwende-Tully trophy. Although inexperienced in competition Tony Advokaat, Vladimir Hatschinski, Martin Moskovits, and Philip Taylor turned in admirable performances throughout the year.

The U. of T. Novice Tournament was won by Ivan Flaschner. Von Nostitz duelled himself to the top in the senior division one bou ahead of Microys. Dr. Paul Swyer, who did very well in several Ontario tournaments placed third.

Next year Mr. Hennyey will again be faced with problems since both Microys and Nostitz graduate. Many of the novices show promise but it will probably take another year before the team will be strong enough to dominate the fencing strips again as it did in previous years.

This year the O.Q.A.A. and Ottawa St. Lawrence A.A. Ski Championships were held as a combined meet at Carlton University February 1st and 2nd. Laval won the O.Q.A.A. title, with Tony Blair, of McGill, winning the skimeister. John Cameron, of Varsity, won the Slalom race, but the team as a whole only managed a fifth-place spot.

The University of Toronto presented four new faces on this year's badminton team in their expeditions to Queen's on February 8th. Although not able to equal last year's squad's serious bid for the championship, the rookie squad of Tim Smith, Peter Wendling, Ravi Gupta and Dick Stevens put in a commendable effort.

Ravi Gupta led the squad from his third singles spot with a 4-1 record, while the rest of the team only managed 2-3 records. Play started at four o'clock Friday afternoon and resulted in four footsore contestants by 10 o'clock. The top three ranked players all took defending Queen's champions to three games before losing. In doubles Gupta and Stevens came through with a 3-2 record, while Smith and Wendling had a 2-3 record, losing again to defending Queen's in the third game, 15-12. All in all Toronto lost five three-game matches with that one final point eluding them again and again. Queen's had a handy lead with 25 points, while Western and Assumption tied with 16 points, Toronto and McGill with 15 points and McMaster coming in last.

Tennis

Six teams participated in the Intercollegiate Tennis Championships held at the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club, October 10th-12th, 1962. The Tournament was conducted on the basis of round robin plays of four ranked players according to merit from each team playing their counterparts in singles and two ranked doubles teams playing their counterparts in doubles. The team championship was decided on the basis of one point given to a team for each match won in singles and doubles. Université de Montréal and University of Toronto shared the team championship with 25 points each, McGill was second with 17, Laval 3rd with 13, Assumption 4th with 7, and Western 5th with 3 points. Francois Godbout, U. of M., true to last year's form, captured the singles championship by winning all matches. McGill's Verth Carpenter and Bruce Denny-Brown won a hard-fought play-off match against Toronto's Gus Reinach and Hugh Parker 9:7, 1:6, 7:5 to win the doubles crown.

Our team of Gus Reinach, Captain, Bob Jacob, Hugh Parker, Joshua Bamisaiye, and Doug Coultis must be congratulated for an extremely fine team effort in a tournament where not only the calibre of tennis was at a very high level but where an exceptional calibre of team spirit was shown by all teams participating.

University of Toronto's golfers again won the team championships in the nine-team Intercollegiate tournament held at the Laval St. Le Golf Club in Montreal. Our team of Cam Watson, Larry Johnson, Robert Farquhar, and Bill Cuff captured the title with a total of 646 strokes in 36 holes ahead of Western /653/ and Université de Montréal /654/. Lehman of University of Western Ontario captured the individual honours with a total of 150 /76 and 74/. Our team showed exceptional depth in Cam Watson and Larry Johnson sharing 5th position with a total of 157 each and Bob Farquhar placing 15th, Bill Cuff 18th in a field of 36 golfers. Larry Johnson was the only member of the team with previous intercollegiate experience, having been on the team last year.

Although Toronto did not repeat their victory of the previous year in the Intercollegiate Championships, they did enjoy a fairly successful season. It began on a happy note in High Park on October 13th with an easy victory over Alfred University. The next week in Detroit in a Quadrangular meet we lost to Wayne State, the host, but defeated Western Ontario and Western Reserve. The high point of the season came in Buffalo at the Canisius College Invitation Meet where there were some twenty odd universities competing. Toronto won the team title for the second year in a row by a lopsided margin. Bruce Kidd also repeated by winning the individual honours by an even greater margin and set a new record for the course en route. Out of the more than one hundred and fifty runners in this race Bob Buchanan was third, Bill Mills fifth, Doug Macdougall twelfth and Bob Kaill twentieth. All ran well considering the cold and windy conditions that prevailed. The Intercollegiate Championships were held in London around Western's picturesque campus on a cold November third. Bruce Kidd again proved that he was in a class by himself by leaving the second place finisher Bob Shirley of McGill about a quarter of a mile in arrears. Doug Macdougall, a freshman on the team, finished a strong fifth. The next Toronto runner Bill Mills came twelfth and admitted afterwards that it had been one of his worst races, whereas he had finished fourth and sixth in the two previous years.

The last scoring man on the team was Bob Kaill who came in fifteenth, and Grahame Wishart another freshman finished eighteenth. Even though we had as strong a team as the year before when we won, McMaster had a stronger one and captured the Intercollegiate Championship. The following week in Guelph on a muddy course with the rain pouring down Toronto ended the season with another defeat at the hand of McMaster. Bruce wasn't around to run in this one (he was in Australia) so it was won by Russ Evans, McMaster's top man. By finishing second Doug Macdougall showed some of his potential for next year as he seemed to get fitter with each meet. Prospects are very good for next year with Bruce Kidd, Doug Macdougall and Bob Kaill returning.

From September 5-9 of 1962 the University of Toronto competed in the Seventh Annual Game Fish Seminar and Fishing Match, held at Wedgeport, Nova Scotia. The four other Canadian teams were:

Dalhousie-New Brunswick

St. Francis Xavier-Western Ontario

while the competing American teams were:

Dartmouth-Harvard

Massachusetts-Princeton

Yale

After four nights of lectures and three days fishing on the sun-swept ocean, the University of Dalhousie finished on top of the heap with the U. of T. in 8th position. Three trophies were awarded at the annual banquet after the meet.

The U.S.A. won the R. J. Schaeffer International Trophy for a combined score greater than Canada.

The Hulman Cup for the highest scoring team went to Dalhousie.

The Crandall Trophy for the team catching the largest fish went to the same team.

One point is awarded for every pound of the following species of fish caught: Pollack, Cod Haddock, Halibut, Giant Blue-fin Tuna. The Tuna have been conspicuously absent from the competition but fishing experts tell us that this is probably due to different temperatures of water masses off the coast of Nova Scotia. Most experts are confident that the giant Blue-fin will return to the Wedgeport area in great numbers of the late 1940's and early fifties. When they do return the who U. of T. team will be eagerly awaiting chance to grapple with these 500 to 1,000 pound living torpedoes.

Team members were: Dave Beatty /Capt. Alf Davis, Mike Treadwell, Walt Ross and Gordon Walker with Ken Windsor doing wonderful job as coach.

The Blues' story this year is one of great individual achievements and a fine team record. The Blues lost the Eastern title to Laval, finishing with an 8-4 record. McMaster, the Western titlist, became the eventual Queen's Cup Winner. They defeated Laval 12-7 in a two-game total-goal final in Hamilton. The Blues had an early problem of finding an adequate defence after the entire rearguard graduated the previous year. Joe Kane finally settled on the defensive pairs, Bob "Spider" Awry and Wayne "Nugget" Antoniazzi and Stu McNeill and Brian Bellmore. The Blues' second problem was the inability to win the big games against Laval.

Nevertheless the team individually had an outstanding year. Seven of the first ten Eastern scoring leaders were Varsity players. Steve Monteith won the scoring championship with 36 points while rookie Ward Passi placed second. Sonny Osborne, the team captain, and Dr. W. A. Dafoe, trophy winner, finished third.

In exhibition games the team lost 7-2 to the Michigan Wolverines, 10-7 against Neil McNeil Maroons of the Metro Junior "A", lost 6-3, and tied 4-4 with McMaster, and tied the N.H.L. Old Timers 3-3.

An early injury to George Hicken forced him out of action for the entire season.

A season highlight was the Intercollegiate All-Star team which was inaugurated by Joe Kane. He coached the players from Laval, McMaster, McGill, University of Montreal and Varsity who played against the Allan Cup Champions, the Trail Smoke Eaters, to a 3-1 victory.

Under Joe, the team can anticipate a great season next year.

474 Eliminations for this year's intercollegiate sailing team at the U. of T. were held at the Toronto Sailing and Canoe Club, a privately owned club in this city. The turnout was excellent and eight people were chosen to represent the University of Toronto in all sailing activities.

This year's intercollegiate regatta was hosted by Assumption University at Lake Fanshawe in London, Ontario.

Waterloo were the eventual winners while our crew of Alan Crosbie and John Lye who led going into the final race finished second overall. In other competition this year we finished second at Cornell and first at the University of Rochester. This spring will bring regattas at Detroit, Boston and Geneva and we anticipate a successful showing there also.

Owing to the very short season and the complete absence of boats belonging to the University of Toronto sailing is not a major sport. All of the team members do sail actively during the summer, however, so there certainly is no lack of enthusiasm or ability. The regattas held by some of the other schools who do have the facilities are all well attended and the calibre there is also of a very high nature.

With a young team this season and another year of experience gained I think we can look forward to an even more successful sailing record in the near future, and perhaps a return to Toronto of the Grant Trophy, emblematic of the Canadian Intercollegiate Sailing Championship.

MISS Z. SLACK / DIRECTOR

As one looks back on this year at the University, one is impressed by a number of items which have added to a successful year; the greatly increased use of the excellent facilities in the Benson Building, the growth of intercollegiate competition, the promotion of "Sports Nights" for individual colleges and the interest of the general public in attending any type of activity we may present. All this adds up to increased knowledge and an appreciation of the subject of Physical Education.

There are many, however, who still believe that Physical Education is just a fancy name for Physical Training — abbreviated to P.T., or Physical Culture, or even Gymnasium, which is a place and not an activity. Some confuse it with Athletics — making a part into the whole. Physical Education, an integral part of the total education process, is a field of endeavour which has as its aim, the development of physically, mentally, emotionally and socially fit citizens through the medium of physical activities.

Physical Education is not something novel, inherent in the 20th century. It has its roots in Greece where it was rightfully interpreted and practised. But the advent of the 20th century has sharpened the focus and pointed up the need. This is a changing world — housewives no longer need to cook food, they must learn to thaw it, conversation is becoming a lost art as television increases, and a 30-hour week is in the offing. Dr. Robert Milliken, the Nobel Prize winner once said, "The age of invention brought the age of discovery; the age of discovery brought the age of power; the age of power has brought the age of leisure with its many unsolved problems." Today, there are two kinds of leisure in our midst — the earned leisure which comes as a reward weekly or annually and forced leisure which comes as a result of unemployment or unwelcome retirement. The latter class is increasing as life expectancy increases. We are becoming an adult population with the problems of old age unsolved, the most important of which is leisure.

Last September, some 70,000 persons watched 18 men play. The last Saturday in November, 27,000 watched 22 play. Our British heritage led us to play games and to participate in sports but our propinquity to the United States has made us a nation of spectators, to our own detriment. Man is an active animal and only by movement can he live and grow. He was meant to be active and he has the ability to be active. We are moving more and more into a sedentary way of life. Automobiles carry us hither and yon, elevators take us up and down, mechanical gadgets do more and more of our work. Already man is beginning to pay the toll for this lack of effort and exercise.

Only in a sense, man is a machine, not an inanimate object but a living creature. A machine becomes worn out with use but a living creature improves with use. Men and women accomplish least at the beginning of their lives and attain their peak after many years of work and training. When we speak of a new machine we say, "it runs well" — but of a young swimmer or a tennis player we say, "she will be successful if she works hard and develops her potentialities". This "if" is important. Unlike the ordinary machine, the human machine reaches its peak of productivity by use.

What is true of the entire body is valid for each of its parts. Joints must be used in order to remain supple. Too much rest makes them rusty. Muscles must be exercised daily — indeed, almost to the point of exhaustion — so that they will become powerful and attain their maximum development. As soon as exercise ceases muscular function becomes impaired. The kidneys are not injured by the fact that they must carry out the complex process of filtering the blood uninterruptedly for a period of seventy years. The brain is not impaired by mental activity and experience; on the contrary, poets, philosophers and inventors often astound us by the productivity of their powers in old age. The principle of exercise is valid for every living creature; the body attains and retains the maximum development of its capacities only by continued exercise. Exercise, of course, in the sunshine is most beneficial but exercise anywhere with exuberance is necessary — note "with exuberance" — in other words, bodily activity with a by-product of joy and happiness. It is not just the exercise, it is the pleasure, fun, if you will, that makes the difference. Indeed, it may be that the source of buoyant health is that much misunderstood emotional state called "joy". This state does not imply hilarity. It centres around the problem of interest. It is engaging in an interesting struggle where there is fear of failure and hope of success, and social approval regardless of the outcome. Joy thus becomes an objective of Physical Education.

So to all of you who have striven, won or lost, laughed or sighed in classes, on teams or in the pool, I express the hope that you will continue your activity for many, many years, that you will endeavour to learn new skills and thus fill your leisure time with satisfaction and pleasure.

478 In the badminton finals at McGill this year, a powerhouse Queen's team rang up their fifth consecutive title. Toronto ended in a tie for second place with Western.

Outstanding for Varsity was interfaculty singles champion, Nancy Vincent, who swept four out of her five matches. The only girl to defeat Nancy, Marg Benson of Queen's, had to run herself into exhaustion to do it. Judy Hamilton, in second singles play, won three out of five matches, while Bonnie Elmsley and Mary Holden teamed up to score in doubles play.

With the return of the talented 1962-63 crew, badminton fans are looking forward to an auspicious future for these bird enthusiasts.

In this year, a year of experimentation with the feasibility of having a regular intercollegiate tournament, the pioneer Blue and White foursome pictured above have helped to prove that golf is an up and coming college sport for Canadian Women. In the invitational tournament held at McMaster, Toronto golfers captured the low gross team score, while Gail Harvey, a familiar fixture on the summer golf links, placed a close second to Sue Hilton of Western. The main problem in establishing this as a recognized intercollegiate sport is the very brief season involved. By mid-September most golfers have stored away their equipment while golf clubs are at a minimum. It is hoped that from this year's experience, that not only will competition be initiated, but also that a suitable type of tournament will be established.

Tennis Volleyball

Varsity women made short work of inter-collegiate tennis opposition by capturing both the first and second singles play and winning two out of four in doubles play. Veronica Holdup, an old-timer on the asphalt courts, sparked the netters to their second win in a row. This marks the thirteenth year that the Blue and White has dominated intercollegiate tennis action.

While Veronica and Hildegard Balogh handled the singles matches, two freshmen, Jean Tetiuk and Lynne Eby, performed admirably in the doubles matches despite the relatively short time that they had for practice sessions.

The Volleyball Team fortified itself this season with a nucleus of three- and four-year veterans in order to take on the onslaught of new volleyball strength that has developed in Intercollegiate play. The girls, both new and old, were led through their paces, strengthening fingers, wrists, legs, arms, mind and spirit. After several preview exhibition games a trend immediately began to show. It appeared to be the same old story: Western in first place and Toronto a hair's breadth behind. The tournament remained to tell the tale. O.A.C. not only hosted one of the finest tournaments yet, but also witnessed one of the most spirited Varsity teams to come out of the Benson Building. The stage was set for the thrilling climax as Varsity met and defeated all opposition before coming face to face with their perennial rivals, the purple and white colours of Western. The outcome was uncertain until the very last second of the final game as the Blue and Whithers succumbed once more to a hair-raising 12-20, 16-18 match defeat. Many faces showed disappointment but underneath the masks were smiles of satisfaction for a job well done and a glimmer of determination for a 1963-64 victory.

Senior Basketball Intermediate Basketball

480 Both the Senior and the Intermediate Basketball Teams fared well in a league that is notorious for the keen competition that it nurtures. The aim, of course, of every red-blooded, intercollegiate "basketbelle" is to win the "Bronze Baby" Trophy which symbolizes basketball supremacy. That capricious little lady has now been in the hands of a powerful Western crew for the last two years. The Toronto gals, eager to get their hands on what has now eluded them for the last seven years, played what was considered one of their best tournament rounds; the final outcome was scarcely indicative of their superb playmanship and immense improvement from the start of the year. The team began the year with what was an almost entirely new group and their coach, Miss Anne Hewett, spent many hours setting up line-ups and floor patterns, to integrate the unfamiliar faces. Basketball, of all the team sports, requires a sixth sense about your teammates as well as intense team co-operation. This was achieved by both teams — the seniors under Miss Hewett, the intermediates under Miss Thomas; and although the seniors placed third behind Western and Queen's, they were truly a well-integrated and smooth running organization.

Special mention should go to Syd Fry who won the individual scoring championship with 42 points in the three games of the tournament at Western. The high-checking guard line of Lysko, Wilson and Jarrett also proved to be successful in halting any forward rushes that looked like true point-getters.

The Intercollegiate tournament took on a new face this year in the form of three sessions, rather than the usual one week-end round-robin play. The far superior system allowed each team a fairer chance at grabbing top honours, and yet was not too exhausting. At the final session, held at Varsity Arena, Toronto and Queen's defeated all opposition. The 2-2 tie between the two teams thus stood and gave each University a share in the still unofficial title.

In the Blue and White nets, Pat Humphreys was responsible for repelling all attacks, although she had a difficult time contending with the continual breaks and solo rushes by a high-scoring Queen's forward — Cookie Cartwright. It is to Pat's credit, as well as to the close-checking defencemen, that Miss Cartwright, who scored 17 goals during the tournament, only managed to slide two across Toronto's goal line. Toronto's forwards were the best that were produced for the tournament. Their knowledge of pattern play and passing as well as their depth made them a going concern throughout the tournament. The loss of many of the veteran players as well as the only woman coach in the league will leave a great gap in the team's line-up for next year.

I sing of woman and the swim. O Muses, of wisdom unrequited, regard not the final results of the Women's Intercollegiate Swim Meet in which the gods favoured us not, but harken how well thy favourite team fought and set example, by their worth, for future water maidens.

By synchronization, did our warriors first fight, and by this did they first appear victorious. Sheila Dutrieue, most revered and most well-practised, did penetrate the enemy lines, and as "Hagor", an Egyptian Shy Goddess, did win the day. From the young maidens arose as well, three brave heroines, Anne Guthrie, Gwen Wardle and Joan Guthrie, by name, who did pretend as they were "digging in Madrid" to have those interests in mind rather than the winning of the battle; so second did they end the day.

'Twas early in the morrow, as the great whistles blew, that the enemy emerged stealthily and one by one dove into the moat, some in position forward one and one-half somersault, others not fearing an inward somersault having 1.7 difficulty. Methinks the board protesteth too much as to us came but third and fourth.

But fear not since the speedsters come and by King Neptune's will, do swim their fastest times; but all for naught, since as it endeth, the scoreboard readeth the Team of James hath 45 while that of Claude hath 44.

Cast thy glaze, O Muse of Old, on past events in water clear. Dost thou not remember true, the Michigan, Syracuse and Barracuda Club meet, which thy own Blues did host so well? Further remember the manyfold practices where "can't" was stricken from yon old record books and "success" replaced by thy weary scribe. To next year's crew, O wise Muse — grant them strength and knowledge both, that many more can feel thy power and relish in thy watery home.

This was a year of firsts for the U. of T. Archery Team. These gals set their first intercollegiate outdoor record and took Toronto's first Outdoor Championship in the 14 years of competition. Miss Paulson's team accumulated 3,977 points, more than 100 above the former mark. Lenora Beacock, having already distinguished herself in 1962 indoor competition, placed second among the individual scorers with 1,042, while her teammates, Ginnie Holmes, Pat Speight, and Jan Forsdike came close behind.

When archery moved indoors, both new and old faces joined forces to capture the indoor tournament with a record-breaking score of 4,152. Lenora Beacock, with her score of 1,114 points, not only headed Toronto archers' first, second and third placings in individual scoring, but also set an individual scoring record. Jan Forsdike and Juli Yamasaki each grabbed perfect ends, a rarity in tournament competition, while Pat Speight connected in form and spirit. It was evident, especially in these teams, that spirit and unity played big parts in their unprecedented wins.

The Archery Club had no less a successful year than their intercollegiate counterparts. Along with several exchange visits with the Hart House Archery Club as well as several Drill Hall meets, the girls participated in the American and Canadian Intercollegiate Telegraphic Archery Tournaments where they virtually swept all honours.

THE CLARAC. BENSON HONOUR AWARD

Gill Fisher climaxed a brilliant career at the University of Toronto this year by winning the Clara C. Benson Honour Award. The Benson Trophy, presented in 1961 by Dr. C. C. Benson, is awarded annually, when merited, to the student in her graduating year who has contributed the most to Women's Athletics from the standpoint of athletic ability, sportsmanship, and scholarship.

Miss Fisher, a fourth-year honour-History student at Victoria College, was selected because of her outstanding contribution not only to her own college but to the University as a whole.

During her university career, Gill has been instrumental in creating the strong spirit of the Victoria Hockey, Swimming, Tennis, Badminton, and Field Hockey teams. At the Intercollegiate level, she was a prominent member of the Championship Ice Hockey Team for two years as well as of the Swim Team, which won the trophy in 1961-62 with the aid of her winning effort. In the four years that she swam, Gill improved at a fantastic rate, and many will agree that her style and speed make her tops in the field.

Into her busy schedule of academics and athletics, Gill has squeezed many hours of work at the executive level. As well as serving on the Victoria College Athletic Association for three years, she devoted much of her time to the Woman's Athletic Directorate and the Hockey Club where she held the Presidency this year. For the past two years she represented the University at the annual meetings of the Women's Intercollegiate Athletic Union.

Not to go unnoticed, however, is the fact that while participating in these extracurricular activities, Gill has maintained a high academic standing in her four years at U. of T.

SILVER AWARDS

The Silver Award is the highest award that is given by the Women's Athletic Association to an Undergraduate. It is limited to students in their graduation year who have the following requirements: 3 Senior "T's", or 2 Senior "T's" and membership on 3 Senior Intercollegiate Teams, or 2 Senior "T's" and at least one Intramural Championship in a team sport, and membership on 2 Senior Intercollegiate teams. These are the basic qualifications but they do not automatically entitle a student to the award. The recipients are: Bonnie Benson, Sheila Dutrieue, Gill Fisher, Inara Grava, Nancy Hill, Judy Matthews, Mary Wilson, Carol Anne Wood.

CONTENTS:
the wonderful
comfort of shopping assurance

Every time you shop at Eaton's you carry away something more than just the goods you've purchased. You carry away the assurance that your purchases, large and small, are protected by Eaton's, in every possible way.

 Eaton's is Canada's largest marketplace—with more buying power and more buying experience than any other store. So it stands to reason that Eaton's generally makes the best buys—and so will you, when you shop at Eaton's.

 The people at Eaton's think in a young, fresh, active way that is very much in tune with this country of ours. That's why the things you see in Eaton's colourful selections seem to reflect the typically fresh, young outlook of Canadian families.

 Although Eaton buyers shop the markets of the world in search of new and interesting products, Eaton's is one of Canada's biggest and most consistent customers. More than 85% of the goods we sell is bought from Canadian suppliers.

 Eaton's has never skimped on the important extras—the "plus-values" that add to the good value appeal of low Eaton prices. Such as delivery services, ordering in person, by phone or mail, and payment through the type of account that best suits your needs.

 Eaton's has resident fashion experts in the places where fashions begin—Paris, London and New York. But Eaton's ingrained fashion sense isn't confined to the "Haute Couture." You'll find it in the simplest accessory, the least expensive dress.

 Finally—Eaton's will not knowingly be under-sold. Consistent comparisons see to it that Eaton prices are as low as any. And Eaton's Guarantee of "Goods Satisfactory or Money Refunded" applies to price as well as to quality and value.
